Another Councilman Indicted on Bribery Charge

TRUE BILL VOTED BY JURY WILL BE RETURNED TODAY

Accepted $100 To Push Pending Ordinance, Says Investigating Body After Inquiry.

PLANS NO LET UP, BOYKIN ASSERTS

Graft Probe Will Be Re- sumed This Morning. Semi-Annual Present- ments Near.

Another member of city council here-fore touched by the municipal graft investigation of the Fulton county grand jury Thursday night was added to the long list of graft defendants when the inquisitorial body voted on a bribery true bill, it was reported from reliable sources. The name of the councilman was not available, as the true bill will not be returned in open court until this morning.

According to information obtained
Thursday night, the bribery charge against the councilman involves the receipt of $100 to influence his official behavior in the matter of voting on a city ordinance.

The indictment against the lone councilman was the only action Thursday of the grand jury, so far as could be learned. The jurors assembled during the morning, and, except for a lunch recess, they will continue until 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

There will be no let-up in the graft investigation until the present grand jury adjourns for the term around
May 1, according to Solicitor-General John A. Boykin. The jurors will meet at 10 o'clock this morning, and after the usual routine business is disposed of they will take up the graft probe again.

Pending the trial of City Clerk
Walker C. Taylor May 12, Solicitor-General Boykin is devoting his entire time to the activities of the grand jury. It is expected that the present body will return recommendations to indicate the developments in the probe during the term, in addition to the usual semi-annual presentments covering various phases of the county's operation and institutions.

Mayor Ragsdale was among the witnesses heard during the morning session of the investigating body. He was seen to enter the grand jury room shortly before 10 o'clock and did not emerge until after noon. Immediately afterward the grand jury was held in session until 1:30 p.m., when it adjourned for the day.

E. Rivers, widely known real estate man, and W. D. Hoffman, former member of the board of education, also were among the witnesses heard Thursday, it being Mr. Rivers' second appearance before the grand jury in as many days, as he also was summoned for appearance Wednesday.

Others heard during the day included a number of employees of the city construction department who also were recalled after Wednesday's session and several businessmen whose testimony is said to have centered on the activities of the board of education.

Firebugs Are Blamed As Residence Burns

Fire, which officials believe to have been of incendiary origin, badly damaged a one-story vacant frame house at 90 Georgia avenue, S. E., Thursday night. Assistant Fire Chief A. B.
Rogers, who directed firemen from Engine Company No. 10 in fighting the blaze, reported finding an empty five-gallon kerosene can in the room where the fire started. It was apparent that the kerosene had been poured on the floor and the walls, he said.

Another one-story vacant residence at 224 Walker street was damaged by fire of undetermined origin Thursday.
Companies 2, 5 and 7 responded to the alarm.

Firemen Rescue Dogs From Well

Responding to the request of the Humane Society and an unidentified young boy, Atlanta firemen late Thursday afternoon rescued two dogs from an abandoned well at 96 Third-field street. A squad of firefighters from Hook and Ladder Company No.
10, under Captain L. Cal Varnedoe, with the aid of the youth, rescued the struggling canines after the boy had been lowered into the well by means of a rope.

Wood Trophy Is Coveted Atlanta Horse Show Award

General Frank R. McCoy shown inspecting the Wood trophy to be contested for at the Atlanta Horse Show.

One of the coveted prizes which will be awarded in the Atlanta Horse show opening today and continuing through tomorrow is the General Leonard Wood memorial cup which is given by Major-General Frank Ross McCoy, commanding general of the fourth corps area and one of the outstanding backers of the annual show, which is to be at Piedmont park.

Particular interest attaches to this trophy because General Wood was much beloved in Atlanta and was especially one of the most admired and esteemed military figures who ever made his home in Atlanta. In his early years, General Wood was responsible for introducing football at Georgia Tech and throughout his long and brilliant career he retained a warm affection for the school.

Major-General McCoy was more closely associated with General Wood than any other officer in the service.
He was for several years aide de camp to the general, and the fact that Mrs.
McCoy is the niece of Mrs. Wood, General McCoy is chairman and manager of the executive committee of the Atlanta Horse Show Association. From the moment plans were launched for the show he has given enthusiastic and able co-operation.

His interest has inspired the entry of splendid teams from Fort Benning, Fort Oglethorpe and Fort McPherson.
More than that, General McCoy timed his call for a conference of all post commanders in the four corps areas so that the visiting officers might be present for the show. The conference was held Thursday and the post commanders are remaining over today and Saturday for the show.

Entries have come from near and far for the annual exhibition of the Atlanta Horse Show Association. Special cars have brought prize mounts from Birmingham, Chattanooga, Nashville, Greenville, Durham, Camden and Augusta. Nearby exhibitors are sending their horses in trucks and local entries are stabled near enough to walk to the show grounds. Some 600 mounts bearing trophies of the Sixth United States Cavalry arrived Thursday and a carload of this outfit's finest show horses will arrive by train today.

Not since the far-off days of the Cotton States Exposition has Piedmont park thrilled with such abundant life and color, nor has Atlanta ever announced any event which drew more genuine response from other southern cities. The foremost society and sports journals in the north and east are heralding the Atlanta horse shows and this section is recapturing the glory of those earlier days when riding and racing were the sport of gentlemen as well as kings.

As for the occasion, the highest authorities on horsemanship and horsemanship will sit as judges. Claude L.

Hugh Inman Shows Rapid Improvement

Hugh T. Inman, who was thought to have been critically injured in an automobile crash Sunday night, was reported to be greatly improved at St. Joseph's hospital Thursday afternoon. According to attaches his improvement Wednesday night and Thursday was rapid, and it is now believed that he will win his fight with death.

Mr. Inman is the vice president of the MacDougall Construction Company, and son of Ed H. Inman, county commissioner. He was injured Sunday night when his car collided with another on Peachtree road.

NEWS CENSORSHIP INVOKED IN INDIA AS UNREST GROWS

As Violence Spreads, Au- thorities Forbid Crowds to Gather; State of Siege in Peshawar.

LONDON, April 25 (Friday)—(AP)—
The Lahore (India) correspondent of the Daily Express today reported that the Indian government had clamped down a censorship on news from the Punjab and the northwest frontier province as a result of Wednesday's rioting at Peshawar.

Dispatches from Allahabad to the Daily News report that a state of siege exists in Peshawar, and that several arrests have been made. The shops there are closed, and the assembly of more than five people has been for-bidden.

UNREST GROWS ALL OVER INDIA.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
With another Indian insurgent killed today at Chittagong, anxiety of authorities regarding unrest throughout India increased.

Events of violence have multiplied in the last 24 hours. At Peshawar yesterday one British soldier and 12 natives were killed after a clash in which troops turned machine gun fire on the rioters.

Calcutta also had a riot yesterday after reports spread through the city that a political prisoner, Mayor J. M.
Sen Gupta, had died following a hunger strike protesting jail treatment.

V. J. Patel, speaker of the legislative assembly, was understood to have offered his resignation to the viceroy today, protesting the treatment of political prisoners.

The ranks of political prisoners gained a recruit today with sentencing of Ram Lal, first volunteer arrested for making contraband salt at Dandi, to one year's rigorous imprisonment.

Mahatma Gandhi replied to the attack made on the civil disobedience campaign by Mohamed Ali, the Moslem leader. Gandhi said that when independence was won the minorities, which include the Moslems, would be placated.

The bodies of the ten insurgents, who were killed in the fighting with troops near Chittagong yesterday, were burned on a funeral pyre in the hills by their colleagues yesterday after photographs were taken, it was learned today.

One of the insurgents, who was wounded and captured, died this morning in a hospital.

More than 200 Europeans at Chittagong have been enrolled as special constables.

TROUBLE INCREASES STEADILY.

BOMBAY, April 24.—(AP)—With riots, demonstrations and arrests steadily increasing in India, the most disturbing feature of the situation tonight was the spread of trouble to Peshawar, key city of the northwest frontier.

Latest reports were that three soldiers were killed and eight wounded.

ONTARIO SYSTEM OF LIQUOR SALES TOLD COMMITTEE

Head of Provincial Li- quor Board Praises Method Before Com- mittee at Washington.

BY HERBERT LITTLE,
United News Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, April 24.—The house judiciary committee investigation of the operations of federal prohibition after ten years' trial ended today with an intimate discussion of the Ontario liquor control system by the head of the Canadian province's liquor control board.

This official, Sir Henry Drayton, asserted his countrymen have solved
the liquor problem by government sale and control which eliminates the factor of avarice—the bootlegger of present-day America and the old-time saloon of former days.

Three other witnesses harpooned prohibition in a more energetic way—William Roper, the Princeton football coach, who said that the youth is drinking vicious liquor in a vicious way and making a virtue of drunkenness; Dr. F. W. Buck, of the federal dispensary tax reduction league, and Representative Clancy, republican, Michigan.

Now the committee will take up five major proposals for abolishing complete federal prohibition of liquor and substituting various state and governmental control systems, but a day majority of the body make it virtually certain that no change will be approved.

Pointing to Ontario as the dryest of Canadian provinces, Sir Henry pointed to the 1929 victory of the Percussion provincial government at the polls as evidence that the people, after two years of trying governmental sale and control, favored it over prohibition, which was in effect there for ten years starting in 1916.

Flasks Increase.

Ontario's prohibition experiment,
he said, developed an increased use of flasks, disrespect for law, more deaths from liquor, and "a new and not at all desiring" class of wholesale bootleggers.

Statistics purporting to show more drunkenness and more drinking in Ontario were also given, but Sir Henry said that the prohibition government at the time of liquor sales which were all illegal, and that "drunks" are nowadays punished with severity.

Statistics showing greater revenues now from liquor disregard, he said, the fact that taxes are five times as great as heretofore. He admitted that drinking in 1929 was larger than in 1928, however, and said he anticipated that the number of liquor stores would have to be increased beyond the present 122 for the province.

"It is a fact that the big bootlegger was put out of business," he commented.

The government employees who run the liquor stores have the express task of seeing that no one is sold liquor if his drinking becomes a nuisance, or if it jeopardizes the economic position of his family. Sir Henry told of one case when a permit to buy liquor was withdrawn, whereupon the drinker spent much time away from home with bootleggers, whereupon the permit was restored.

The program for the season is:
Thursday Night, May 1—"Louise,"
with Bori, Trantoul, Robier, Bourskaya and more than 20 principal singers, besides the chorus and ballet.

Friday Night, May 2—"Trovatore,"
with Rosa Ponselle, Martinelli, Danise, Clausen and others, including the ballet.

Saturday Matinee—"La Boheme," with Bori, Gighi, De Luca and the full company.

Saturday Night—"Cavalleria Rusti-
cana," with Leonora Carona and Ar-
ad Tokatyan, followed by "Pagliac-ci," with Lawrence Tibbett, Marti-
nell, Queena Mario and others.

LOUISE SCENERY HERE SATURDAY

Arrangements for 1930 Opera Season Here Are Almost Complete.

Scenery for the big third act of "Louise," which is to open the Atlanta opera season next Thursday night, May 1, will begin to arrive at the Metropolitan Saturday, according to notices received by the Music Festival Association of Atlanta.

The Charpentier opera, revived this year by the Metropolitan Opera Company in response to public demand, was presented this week in Washington, Va., where the company will present four performances in the first half of next week.

So massive are the settings for the third act of "Louise," showing the heavies of Montmartre, with the lights of Paris in the distance, the Church of the Sacred Heart, and the cottage where Louise and Julien have begun their honeymoon, that the stage experts of the Metropolitan were anxious to ship them to Atlanta well in advance and see that everything is in readiness for the opening performances. The first, second and fourth act settings, all by Joseph Urban, the famous scenic artist, will probably arrive Monday by special baggage car.

The advance sale of tickets for the Atlanta season took a spurt yesterday as Atlantans began to realize that the opera season is close at hand, and the sale was the heaviest since the opening day, last Monday. While "Louise" led in sales among the Atlanta patrons, the out-of-town demand was pretty evenly divided among the other three performances. Plenty of good seats remain in the box office, and orders will be filled promptly by the Music Festival Association, 84
Broad street, N. W.

The program for the season is:
Thursday Night, May 1—"Louise,"
with Bori, Trantoul, Robier, Bour-
skaya and more than 20 principal
singers, besides the chorus and ballet.

Friday Night, May 2—"Trovatore,"
with Rosa Ponselle, Martinelli, Danise, Clausen and others, including the ballet.

Saturday Matinee—"La Boheme," with Bori, Gighi, De Luca and the full company.

Saturday Night—"Cavalleria Rusti-
cana," with Leonora Carona and Ar-
ad Tokatyan, followed by "Pagliac-
ci," with Lawrence Tibbett, Marti-
nell, Queena Mario and others.

MURDER, SUICIDE SEEN BY POLICE IN DOUBLE DEATH

Former Wife of Famous Actor and Mrs. Palmer, Wealthy Chicagoan, Die Together.

MAID DISCOVERED BODIES OF WOMEN

Authorities Find No Signs of Struggle. Mrs. Post Killed Other Woman, Is Belief.

LAGUNA BEACH, Cal., April 24.
(AP)—In a tragedy, apparently a murder and suicide, the bodies of Mrs.
Guy Bates Post, a stage star of two decades ago, and the recently divorced wife of the famous stage star, and Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer, formerly of Chicago, were found in a fashionable bungalow of Mrs. Palmer here late today.

Mrs. Post had died from a bullet fired into her brain through the mouth. Mrs. Palmer was shot through the back, the bullet striking her heart.

Near the body of Mrs. Post lay a revolver. Two empty shells were in its chamber.

After a preliminary investigation authorities from the Santa Ana, Cal., sheriff's office expressed the belief that it was a simple case of murder and suicide. They believed Mrs. Post had shot Mrs. Palmer and in turn taken her own life.

The discovery was made by a maid in the Palmer house, who stumbled across the bodies while returning from a market errand.

The events immediately preceding the slaying were not known.

Mrs. Post, who was about 50 years old, came here several months ago from Hollywood to live with her mother in their luxurious home on Sunset Hills, fashionable colony of the resort city. Mrs. Palmer, who was about 32 years old, came here about two and a half years ago from Chicago. She apparently was very wealthy.

Guy Bates Post recently had been playing before Los Angeles audiences in the production, "Masquerade."

Mrs. Post, before her marriage some years ago to the actor, appeared in several plays with the late Lillian Russell.

Mrs. Post obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from the actor December 14, 1929. She charged desertion. Post did not contest the action. The court gave her custody in Toronto, Ont., November 3, 1916, and separated in California October 1, 1920.

For several years she has been in charge of the Laguna Beach play house, sponsored by Harold McCormick, son of the late Cyrus McCormick, hardware magnate of Chicago.
Post sailed from San Diego, Cal., March 22 for Honolulu where he was under contract to appear as a guest star in a stock company.

The bodies were found in the living room.

room of the Palmer home. The shot had mutilated Mrs. Post's head.

Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Post were known in society circles here as "very good friends." Mrs. Palmer was divorced several years ago, but her former husband's name was not available. It is believed he is living in Chicago.

Laguna authorities established a guard about the home and refused admittance to all persons. They said their first examination of the house did not indicate a struggle had occurred. The furnishings apparently were in order.

VICTIM WAS ILLINOIS GIRL.

CHICAGO, April 24.—(P)—Newspaper files here showed that Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer, found shot to death in Laguna Beach, Cal., today, with Mrs. Guy Bates Post, was married here in June, 1921, to Dr. Clinton Foster Palmer, of Albert Lea, Minn. Before her marriage she was Doris Murray, of Waukegan, Ill.

VIRGINIA FETE QUEEN CROWNED BY HARDMAN

WINCHESTER, Va., April 24.—(P)—A new queen of the Shenandoah valley was crowned today, to rule over the vast rolling acres that annually give to the world a bountiful harvest of fruit.

Surrounded by princesses, she sat on a high throne overlooking the valley, at her feet thousands of subjects who cheered the coronation. Miss Suzanne Pollard, daughter of the governor of Virginia, became Queen Shenandoah VII.

Governor L. G. Hardman, of Georgia, chief executive of the state famous for its peaches, placed the crown emblematic of royalty and dignity on the queen's brow.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon thousands of visitors from many nearby and distant states had thronged the stadium in front of Handley High school, crowding close to gain a nearer view of the regal beauty of the queen. During the morning they had witnessed a "parade of the blossoms" participated in by school children from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia and listened to band concerts earlier in the afternoon.

FOURTH CORPS LEADS U. S. ON C. M. T. CAMPS

The fourth corps area, composed of eight southeastern states, leads the other eight corps areas in America in its response to applications for the citizens' military training camps. It was disclosed Thursday. This is the third year that this corps area has taken the lead.

Former Governor John M. Slaton, of Atlanta, is the head of the Military Training Camps Association in this corps area and this organization of prominent civilians is considered by the war department as the primary agency for distributing information concerning these camps.

In the fourth corps area, 97.2 per cent of the quota assigned was filled by April, which surpasses the record of all other corps areas in the United States.

A. M. E. Conference Held in Atlanta

The second day session of the West Atlanta district of the A. M. E. church, meeting daily in Cosmopolitan A. M. E. church, with Dr. H. D. Canady presiding, is making headway in expediting business matters.

Welcome services were held Wednesday night, with Dr. Allen R. Cooper acting as master of ceremonies.

Revs. J. S. McKellar, G. F. Patterson, N. Maddox, R. R. Robinson made reports.

From all indications, the Atlanta, the South Atlanta and the West Atlanta districts will raise in full their educational quotas for Morris Brown University, according to the presiding elders.

The educational sermon was preached by Rev. R. H. Porter, St. Mark's church.

Elder Lauds Work Of A. M. E. Ministers

The South Atlanta district conference of the A. M. E. church met in Flipper Temple, in the second day of its session. "The Financial Ability of the People Throughout the District" was discussed by Dr. W. B. L. Clark, Revs. T. T. Ivey, J. H. Carey and J. E. Reese.

Dr. J. H. McFarlin, presiding elder of the district, recounted the labors of the pastors in the district and praised them for the work accomplished this year.

The reports from the several churches excelled those of previous years. Churches were remodeled, parsonages built and membership increased.

Evangelist Speaks On 'Touch of Faith'

"It is not just hearing about Jesus that counts, it is coming into vital touch with Him," Mrs. Booth-Clibborn, speaking on "The Touch of Faith," said Thursday night at the Gospel tabernacle.

"Unbelief ties God's hands, and keeps us down on the level of the ordinary," she said. "But faith, opens the windows of heaven, and creates circumstances of her own."

"The unexpected always happens when there is a real touch of faith," she said. "God would rather let all the stars fall out of their places than have the least of His trusting ones confounded."

Miss Frida Booth-Clibborn, the speaker's daughter, will conduct a meeting for young people tonight.

P. O. SITE DECISION IS EXPECTED MONDAY

Location of Atlanta's New Government Building To Be Settled.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(Special)—Following a conference with treasury department officials of more than two hours this afternoon, Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General John W. Philip announced that it would probably be Monday before definite decision is reached on the site of the new federal building authorized for Atlanta.

Prospects for a settlement of the site question today had been held out by Mr. Philip yesterday, after returning from a conference with the various properties suggested was made by him and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Perry.

Failure of department heads to reach an agreement today was due to the inability of treasury department engineers to assemble all data on the several sites under consideration, the fourth assistant postmaster-general said.

"We had hoped to wind up the matter," Mr. Philip told The Constitution tonight, "but the necessity for having full information on all sites and the desire to do the best thing for Atlanta caused us to defer action for a day or so. I should say a definite announcement on the location of the new building will be forthcoming by Monday, at least."

If certain complications are cleared up more readily than seems likely for the moment, it is possible that a decision may be reached before then. We are planning further conference on the situation tomorrow and Saturday.

Today's conference was held at the treasury department with Assistant Secretary Heath and James A. Wetmore, supervising architect of the treasury, participating. Treasury department building engineers were called in for consultation.

While officials decline to discuss the site under consideration, it is learned that they include some three or four, exclusive of the Central of Georgia property, all in the vicinity of the Atlanta terminal station and all within the city limits.

It appears that the building will be certain to go up on Spring street. The site of the Central of Georgia, terminal station and the Georgia street building, which has been all but definitely eliminated, due to the inability of company officials and government heads to get together on the certain points of connection with the original plan to connect the building with the terminal by overhead conveyers.

While various reports persist of the government's intention to erect two buildings out of the Atlanta funds, a main structure and an auxiliary building in a different section of the city, it is not believed that this will receive serious consideration.

BREMEN UNDAMAGED AFTER FOG COLLISION

SOUTHAMPTON, England, April 24.—(P)—The Bremen, one of the Atlantic's largest and swiftest liners, was en route to New York tonight after an alarming collision with the tanker British Grenadier about five miles off Dungeness this morning.

The collision occurred in a dense fog, the Bremen passengers said, as the ship anchored off Cowes this evening for an official survey, was proceeding slowly and blowing her siren.

Suddenly the ships struck with a resounding crash. It was seen from the German liner's decks that the tanker was damaged, as life belts were being issued to the crew, but the tanker quickly vanished in the fog.

Although the Bremen cruised about for three hours she was unable to get in touch with the British Grenadier.

The Bremen then abandoned the search and moved slowly to Southampton, where she anchored off the Coves entrance. Here an official surveyor boarded the ship and issued a certificate enabling her to proceed.

The British Grenadier, said reports from Deal, was severely damaged on the port side, but was able to limp into Downs without assistance. When she anchored oil was pouring from her tanks into the water.

Before arrival the British Grenadier wireless for a physician to attend a "superfluous" who was injured. The "superfluous" proved to be a woman passenger, Mrs. Robinson, of Scotland, who was traveling with her two small children. She was cut when bringing the children from the cabin to her deck at the moment of impact. She was taken ashore by a motorboat.

Emory University Debates Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 24.—(Special)—Emory's debaters opened their western trip speaking in Baton Rouge at the Kiwanis Club luncheon this afternoon in a no-decision debate with the University of Louisiana on "Resolved, that war can be prevented through the instrument of international agreement."

Warren Cox and Frank A. Settle, the Emory speakers, will meet Tulane in New Orleans Friday on the same subject and continue to Southern Methodist and Baylor where they debate next week.

Dodd, of Shreveport, La., will speak at the First Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock tonight presenting the concluding sermon of a series of Christian fellowship services held there during the week to celebrate the opening of the new church auditorium. There will be special music for tonight and leaders of various Baptist churches in the city will participate.

CAROMING BULLET Sheriff Explains Shot Wounding Alleged Bootlegger.

EAGLEPOINT, Wis., April 24.—(P)—Edward Focht, alleged bootlegger, was wounded fatally today during a liquor raid on an island in the Mississippi river. Raiding officers, who included federal and county agents, said the bullet which wounded Focht was fired by Sheriff Joe Greer, of Grant county, when Focht tried to run from the officers. Sheriff Greer said the bullet was deflected by a tree.

What Do You Think Should Be Done About Prohibition?

The prohibition poll of the Literary Digest which has aroused such wide interest shows in its latest tabulations the following votes from Atlanta: For enforcement of eighteenth amendment, 1,863; for modification of the amendment, 2,684; for repeal of the amendment, 3,001.

The Constitution is giving the people of Atlanta and vicinity an opportunity to demonstrate whether or not these figures correctly represent the sentiment of the citizens of this section. This paper would like to know and it feels that its readers would, too.

If you would like to aid in the securing of this expression, put an "X" in the space which expresses your opinion, sign your name plainly, in pen and ink or pencil, and mail or bring it in person to the Prohibition Poll Editor of The Constitution. Remember that you can vote only ONCE. Duplicate ballots will not be counted. To further safeguard the poll, no Atlanta ballot will be counted if the name signed to it does not appear in either the city directory or the telephone directory.

If you are interested in ascertaining whether the Literary Digest figures correctly represent the sentiment of your city and section send in your ballot at once. Your name will be kept in the strictest confidence and will never be made public in any way.

Do you favor the continuance and strict enforcement of the 18th Amendment and Volstead Law?

Do you favor a modification of the Volstead Law to permit light wines and beers?

Do you favor repeal of the Prohibition Amendment?

liquor, intemperance and all other accompanying evils. Our 'wet' vote is merely against these conditions, which are more pronounced in the urban than the rural sections.

"One of your correspondents says that 'the wets are the outs'—we were 'out of the country' (most of us) years in France when these obnoxious dry laws were 'put over'."

Constitution readers, and the people of Atlanta generally, are urged to bear in mind that The Constitution's purpose in conducting the prohibition poll is to offer opportunity for a more complete expression by the citizens of the city than could be secured by the Literary Digest poll. Therefore full participation is invited by all those interested in knowing whether or not the Digest figures for this territory accurately reflect the sentiment of the people.

Anybody can vote provided he or she is twenty-one or more years of age and that the name signed to the ballot appears in either the telephone directory or the city directory. Any one whose name does not for any reason appear in either of these direc-

Suit Against Salary Of George Is Dropped

Suit to enjoin Mrs. Mable Abbott MacNeill, treasurer of Fulton county, from paying the salary of James M. George as temporary clerk of superior court, was withdrawn Thursday afternoon by Attorney William G. McRae after County Attorney Charles B. Shelton read to Judge Virlyn B. Moore the law under which the county commission made the temporary appointment.

In the suit filed in the name of his wife, Mrs. Marjorie McRae, Attorney McRae had charged that the commission had no authority to make the temporary appointment as that was the right of the county ordinary. George held the appointment following the death of the late Thomas C. Miller and pending a special election held on April 9, when J. Walton Simmons was elected clerk.

Dunning Is Summoned In Patronage Squabble

Administration Officials
Move To Settle Georgia Republican Impasse;
Rose To Be Questioned.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, April 24.—(Special.)—Administration officials charged with the adjustment of southern patronage squabbles today took the first step towards the recognition of one or the other of the two factions which precipitated a near riot over control of the republican state convention of Georgia, held in Atlanta last Saturday.

Collector of Customs M. O. Dunning, of Savannah, leader of the group which claims to have wrested control of the party organization of Georgia from the hands of Josiah T. Rose, of Atlanta, collector of internal revenue for the state, was the first of the Georgia republican leaders to be summoned to Washington for a conference on the situation.

He spent some time at the White House today conferring with Walter H. Newton, political secretary to the president, who, along with Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, constitutes the administration's unofficial committee on southern affairs.

Collector Rose, who heretofore has been the dominant figure in the distribution of federal patronage in the state, has also been summoned to the capital. He is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow and will be expected to give Messrs. Brown and Newton a report supporting his claims to further recognition.

Still another of the Georgia leaders, who, it is understood, will be called to Washington is United States Marshal L. H. Crawford of the northern district, while it is not at all unlikely that United States District Attorney Clint W. Hager, of Atlanta, will also be summoned or appear voluntarily.

No Comment.

Following the conference between Secretary Newton and Collector Dunning today, neither official was available for comment and the latter left the city before he could be interviewed by correspondents but is expected back next week for a further conference after administration leaders have had an opportunity to hear Collector Rose's side of the story.

Information coming from administration circles is that no effort will be made to settle the Georgia controversy immediately. It was indicated that the president's unofficial committee will let it simmer for a while, gathering full reports on the Atlanta convention during the interim, and defer recognition of either group until the full facts are in hand.

On the final outcome depends whether J. W. Arnold, of Athens, or Collector Rose will be recognized as new state chairman, and as such accepted by administration officials as the leader of the republican party in the state, carrying with it the right to direct federal appointments, there being no Georgia national committee at present. The Dunning-Arnold forces have prepared briefs and records tending to show that Mr. Arnold was elected by an overwhelming majority of the convention.

Postmaster General Brown preliminary written reports on the convention will be challenged by the Rose faction, which will present counter claims supporting their contention that Mr. Rose was the convention choice.

Thought Disappointed.

Still both Postmaster General Brown and Secretary Newton are said to feel some disappointment over the failure of Mr. Rose to manage the convention successfully. Just how far this disappointment goes remains to be seen. Mr. Rose is placed in the embarrassing position of having had all federal appointments in the state at his disposal during the past year, including the hundreds of census workers, carrying with it the full support of administration backing and yet being unable to hold the convention in control. Administration leaders, while declining to express themselves openly, are reported to feel that he should have managed better.

In short Messrs. Brown and Newton must feel some sting of discomfiture at the thought of the Georgia convention splitting up into rival factions and developing into a carefully laid program for a harmonious conclusion, said to have been outlined by the administration unofficial committee. To put it another way, they can't feel exactly flattered at the failure of the program as such.

Meanwhile department of justice officials have failed to indicate what action if any will be taken on the charges preferred against District Attorney Hager by J. J. Dove, of Atlanta. Hager's resignation was demanded on the ground that he conspired to wreck the republican convention by injecting an unheard-of parliamentary device to defeat Arnold for temporary chairman and effect the election of Gilmer Dozier, surprise candidate of the Rose-Hager group.

INTER-RACIAL GROUP CONVENES IN ATLANTA

Twelve southern states are represented by delegations at the annual meeting of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, which convened at the Butler Street Y. M. C. A. Thursday morning for a two-day session. Nearly a hundred members and visitors are present, including many well-known educators, ministers, business and professional men, and women prominent in religious and civic circles.

Dr. W. C. Jackson, of Greensboro, N. C., vice president of North Carolina College for Women and chairman of the commission, is presiding at the meeting and the program is directed by Dr. Will W. Alexander, the commission's executive director.

Thursday's sessions were devoted to reports of officers, field secretaries and delegates from the various states, telling of a wide variety of activities achieved or in progress. Among these were scientific studies of difficult interracial situations, improvement of conditions of negro education, health, court justice, transportation, child welfare, and economic opportunity; and efforts through every available channel to promote mutual understanding and co-operation between the races, instead of hostility and conflict.

In these efforts, it was reported, there has been increasing co-operation on the part of churches and other religious groups, clubs, schools, the press, and the agencies of government.

Much remains to be done, it was admitted, but satisfaction with the progress made and optimism for the future were the dominant notes heard at the meeting.

Naval Ensign Maimed By Plane Propeller

NORFOLK, Va., April 24.—(AP)—A northeast gale swept Ensign Warren Burke, of the U. S. S. Saratoga, into the whirling propeller of a plane aboard ship and his left arm was severed.

Burke, whose home is in San Francisco, was preparing to take off in a flight of 80 planes to recede the craft carried into port here. Walking across the flight deck with his parachute bundle in his left arm, he passed in front of a plane "warming up." The breeze staggered him and a blade came directly across the member, severing it instantly above the elbow.

The carriers Saratoga and Lexington anchored at Hampton Roads naval operating yesterday on arrival from maneuvers in southern waters, bringing with them approximately 300 planes. The Saratoga will enter dry dock at Norfolk navy yard today for overhaul and inspection, while the Lexington is preparing for a trip to Lynnhaven Roads, where members of the naval affairs committee will board ship to witness battle maneuvers for their benefit.

Drys Make Slight Gain In Literary Digest Poll

Arkansas Joins Kansas in "Bone Dry" Column as Total Ballots Near 4-000,000 Mark.

Arkansas this week joins Kansas in the "bone-dry" ranks of the latest returns of The Literary Digest's nationwide "straw" referendum on the prohibition question, as published in tomorrow's issue of the magazine.

A grand total of 3,705,742 ballots are tabulated in this report, which is nearly a million more votes than was ever received in a previous poll undertaken by the periodical. It is stated.

The dries continue to gain slightly as they poll 1,092,745 votes, or 29.49 per cent of the total.

One million five hundred seven thousand three hundred fourteen ballots, or 40.87 per cent of the total, are registered for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, which shows a slight loss from previous tabulations for the repealers.

The vote for modification is 1,108,665, or 29.84 per cent.

Connecticut, New Jersey, and Rhode Island are the only states which show a clear majority vote for repeal, and Arkansas and Kansas are the only ones which evidence more than a 50 per cent sentiment for strict enforcement, in the current tabulations.

Ten Largely Dry.

Among the states which register over 40 per cent of their total vote for enforcement are Alabama, Colorado, Iowa, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Texas.

Opposed to these are Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and the District of Columbia, each of which shows a more than 50 per cent sentiment for repeal.

No state shows a 40 per cent vote for modification although over one-third of the voters in Arizona, California, Nevada, Ohio, Oregon, Washington, and West Virginia express their desires as for light wines and beers.

Kansas continues to lead as the driest state while New Jersey jumps to the head of the wet column this week.

The editorial comment of The Literary Digest in this issue is mainly taken up with a report on a series of checks on the poll, which is being undertaken by a number of newspapers throughout the country. The magazine issues an invitation to the remainder of the press of America to check on their returns in the particular locality a given newspaper serves.

Savannah Poll.

Considerable space is devoted to the first of these local polls undertaken by the Savannah (Ga.) News, which stated editorially that it believed The Literary Digest poll showed the southern city as more unfavorable to prohibition than it really was. The poll conducted by this weekly dry newspaper proved to be wetter than The Literary Digest poll, according to final figures announced.

"The Savannah Morning News," The Literary Digest states editorially, "is a consistently dry organ, and it was doubtful of some Digest returns tending to show Savannah as decidedly wetter."

"On the suggestion of two of its employees, both sincere dries, it resolved as a feat of journalistic enterprise and service to the dry cause, to take a local dry-wet straw vote, confident of vindicating Savannah."

It proceeded to print a ballot with an abbreviation of The Digest's three questions, and stipulated the signing of the ballots, to be made by the repeaters.

"The returns of this local prohibition poll proved to be wet—much wetter than the Digest returns for Savannah." But the Savannah News, while confessing its surprise and dismay, stuck to its guns with grim journalistic fortitude and continued to collect its straw vote, which grew wetter and wetter.

"In doing so, it suddenly became a target for brickbats from some of the eminent dry advocates of Savannah. The Morning News for its straw vote, calling it treason to the constitution, and ending by accusing the devoted newspaper of wetness and telling a specific story of a man forging names on a large batch of wet ballots and delivering them to the Morning News for publication, and stating that the newspaper had been tampered with, but apparently no retractions or apologies have been forthcoming from its earnest fabricators."

"In a word, the Savannah Morning News, although a dry paper, found itself self-denied by the printing of a venomous campaign, on a local scale, as that which The Digest is cheerfully encountering on a national scale."

The Literary Digest extends a hearty welcome to every newspaper throughout the country which undertakes to serve the cause of truth by checking up the results of our prohibition poll in its particular territory. It's a good habit, and the field is ripe.

"Other local polls, on a smaller scale, have arrived at results corresponding pretty closely with Digest returns from the same regions, and providing at least, that our figures do not err on the wet side."

"Indeed, one of our most vigorous recent assaults accuses The Digest of being edited by a rank prohibitionist, who 'tries to make his readers believe the poll is not nearly so bad for the dries as the figures would make it appear.'"

In the 1922 prohibition poll taken by The Literary Digest on the same three questions now being used, the corresponding week's tabulations showed a total of 787,475 ballots returned, of which 302,515, or 38.41 per cent, were for strict enforcement; 322,328, or 40.93 per cent, for modification; and 162,632, or 20.66 per cent, for repeal.

THE QUESTIONS

1. Do you favor the continuance and strict enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and Volstead law?
2. Do you favor modification of the Volstead law to permit light wines and beers?
3. Do you favor a repeal of the prohibition amendment?

Progress Reported In Pen School Work

Substantial progress in educational activities at the Atlanta Federal prison has been made under direction of Earl M. Stigers, according to comment in "Good Words," the prison publication. Under his supervision obsolete texts have been discarded and new ones selected, and a day school planned to supplement the work of the night school.

Other figures given in the Good Words for April show that there were 459 prisoners discharged from March 18 to April 16, and that 442 were received. The present number of inmates is estimated at 3,728, while the last number registered was 3,333.

BYRD TEST PILOT REJOINS FAMILY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 24.—(AP)—Captain Alton N. Parker, test pilot of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, told newspapermen who met him on his arrival here early today that "it's been a long time since last Tuesday."

"Since last Tuesday" has been the time the captain has spent traveling from the Pacific coast for a reunion here with his wife and six-year-old son, Jack, and a visit to his home in Mississippi—after an absence of 18 months.

Captain Parker, companion of Admiral Byrd on both his North Pole and Antarctic expeditions, planned to spend several days here before going to Mississippi. Beyond that his plans were indefinite but he indicated that he likely will return to the Marine Corps.

Mrs. Parker came to Memphis from Starkville, Miss., with her son to be the first to welcome Captain Parker home, and "glad there are no more poles" for him to go hunting.

Jack planned to go to the station with his mother but the Sandman intervened. Before he fell asleep, however, he wrote a letter to be given "Daddy" as soon as he arrives.

During her husband's absence Mrs. Parker and Jack have made their home at Starkville. From there they plan to go to Starkville then to Crystal Springs, Captain Parker's home.

PARADE TO FEATURE MEMORIAL PROGRAM

Atlanta Will Pause To Pay Tribute To Heroes of War.

Plans for a huge parade through downtown Atlanta and for other manifestations in honor of the veterans of the War Between the States have been completed, and on Saturday thousands will halt in the pursuit of their daily affairs to pay homage to the memory of the "lost cause" when the official Memorial Day rolls around.

The feature of the day will be the annual parade, including military units, patriotic societies, veterans' groups and civic units in its assemblage. The parade will form at Baker and Peachtree streets shortly after 1 o'clock and get under way at 1:45 p. m. The procession will move down Peachtree through the heart of the city to Oakland cemetery where military honors by a buglers' corps and a firing squad will be paid by the 122nd infantry, Georgia national guard, as the concluding chapter of the exercises.

The Atlanta parade will be led by Major General E. G. Peyton, of the thirty-third division, grand marshal, and Major McIntosh M. Burns, of the Georgia national guard, as chief of staff. The first division will include military units only, among them being the 22nd infantry from Fort McPherson, the 122nd infantry, national guard; Troop C, 108th cavalry; the Georgia Tech band and R. O. T. C. unit and the United States naval reserves.

R. O. T. C. units from Georgia Military academy, Boys' High, Tech High, Fulton High, Marietta college and R. E. Lee schools will be given next place in the line of march, followed by a division headed by Mayor L. N. Ragsdale and members of the fire and police departments. Confederate veterans will be given a place of honor in the section devoted to veteran organizations and patriotic organizations, including also veterans of the Spanish-American War.

The rear guard of the parade will be composed of women's organizations, among them being the Daughters of the Confederacy and Daughters of the American Revolution. The day will be observed in other sections of the state and the outlying suburbs of Atlanta. Appropriate exercises are to be observed in Decatur and a number of other points.

As Saturday is Memorial Day a proclamation will be issued by Mayor L. N. Ragsdale closing the city hall for the entire day, except for a brief period at 11 o'clock in the morning when the Military Order of Serpents will present the city with a bronze tablet cast from metal recovered from the battleship Maine.

These exercises will take place in the main corridor of the city hall and the table will be presented by Colonel John S. Candler, former commander of the third Georgia regiment in the war with Spain. The official acceptance will be made by Mayor Ragsdale.

ODD FELLOWS TO MEET

Celebrate 111th Anniversary Saturday.

Joint exercises celebrating the 111th anniversary of the founding of the Order of Odd Fellows will be held at the Odd Fellows hall, 191 1-2 Whitehall street, S. W., Saturday night, it was announced Thursday.

The observation will be participated in by Central lodge No. 28, Capital lodge No. 60, and Shinarump lodge No. 71, and Georgia Rebekah lodge No. 17.

The anniversary service of the Odd Fellows will begin at 8 o'clock Saturday night following a meeting of the Rebekahs at 7:30.

Paul L. Lindsey, past grand master of the grand lodge of Georgia and a member of the legislative committee of the sovereign grand lodge of the world, will make the principal address. Refreshments will be served by the Rebekah lodge.

RECORDS IN COUNTY ELECTION MISSING

Ballot Boxes in County Commission Race Opened by Grand Jury.

Search for several missing voters lists and registration lists from the county commission primary of March 10 was instituted Wednesday by the Fulton county grand jury when the ballot boxes were opened under a court order and lists from certain districts were not found in the boxes. All papers from the special election of a superior court clerk on April 9 were found intact.

The voters list and registration list were missing from the box used in Buckhead district in the primary. The voters list was missing from the Adamsville district box, and there could be found no checked registration lists from the Center Hill and Poole's district boxes.

If the missing lists are not found it is probable that the managers of the districts will be called on to explain their absence. It was said.

Judge Edgar E. Foneroy, of Fulton superior court, Wednesday signed an order giving the grand jury entry into the boxes for the purpose of obtaining the lists in an effort to check reports of alleged election irregularities. A special committee from the grand jury, headed by A. R. Wright, is handling the investigation.

Still Fear Medfly.

ORLANDO, Fla., April 24.—(AP)—Although no Mediterranean fruit fly infestations have been found in Florida for some time, members of the federal fruit fly board are "highly apprehensive" of another outbreak with the return of warm weather. W. C. O'Kane, chairman of the board, declared in a statement issued here tonight.

Hundred Horse Power and Hundred Cow Power

Power in vehicles and machinery is measured in "horse-power." An automobile with one hundred horse-power is not unusual in these days of fine cars and fine roads.

Do you know that the business power of a country might well be measured in "cow-power?" The milk industry, as a whole, is the largest and most important industry in the world—greater than the steel or automotive industries—so the "cow-power" is all important.

Every cow is a potential income-earner. Five cows have a very considerable income-earning ability. A few years ago a farmer with five cows had a recognized asset—enough for the farm supply of milk and butter and some to take to town—just as his four-horse team was a powerful hook-up.

But today it is the fifty and one hundred "cow-power" that counts. Widely organized effort and a widely and evenly organized market have brought progress and prosperity, commensurate with the hundred horse-power car. Wherever the dairy-product business has been industriously and industrially organized, the cow-income has multiplied.

The effect of Southern Dairies' work in upbuilding the dairy industry is far reaching. It extends through the Southeastern States, involving production, manufacturing and distribution of the best milk products in America.

It does its large part towards encouraging other industries to locate in the Southern section of the country.

Southern Dairies is an organization that is making an organized whole of this industry—working in a modern, scientific way, keeping the wheels of this wonderful cow-industry going round—multiplying five cow-power to a hundred cow-power, and this to a thousand cow-power—constantly widening the market and the demand.

Atlanta Bidding Farewell To Old-Styled Trained

RAZING OF PRYOR STREET STATION MARKS PASSING

With the rapid destruction of the old Union depot, one of the most inspiring of the many features which generations have evened in the eyes of Atlanta youngsters, the great, arched train shed, is passing.

How many Atlanta boys have stood under the shed, gazing fascinated at the strange sights it held?

In a misty vastness, through which shot gleaming beams of light, the endless rows of passenger cars, the great, arched train shed, is passing.

The engines seemed leviathans, strange monsters of iron and steel. They seemed alive. Gray smoke shot to the ceiling, curled and rolled along the roof and settled to increase the opaque darkness.

It was uncanny—grotesque. It seemed a veritable playhouse of the gods.

Small boys gazed entranced, older ones excitedly, even grown-ups with unclouded interest.

But the day of train sheds in Atlanta—as all over the country—is passing.

Practically every city of consequence in the country has abandoned them. Birmingham, at its Twentieth Street station, still has one. And Montgomery. And they are found in a few cities from coast to coast.

They are fast disappearing, however, giving way to the more modern butterfly sheds, such as have been installed at the new Union depot. The advantages claimed by the latter are that they are more sanitary, give more air and light, and are generally more convenient.

If Atlanta wants to look its last upon that with which it has been familiar for generations, on which in boyhood it looked in awe and in manhood with more than casual interest, it had best move quickly.

Workmen are ripping the old shed to pieces, destroying it to make place for the new $3,000,000 Dixie Terminal building to be erected on the site.

In a few days it will be gone. The next few days hold what is probably the last opportunity to see a train shed in Atlanta. There is a small likelihood that another will ever be erected.

It is not yet definitely known whether the removal of the old building will be completed. Officials of the United States Warehouse Company, which is behind the Dixie Terminal building, undertaking, say that they are ready to begin construction as soon as the property is delivered to them.

Evangelist C. H. Woodroof, of Ohio, Tenn., will speak on the subject, "The Power of Prayer," tonight at the Moreland Avenue Church of Christ, where he is conducting a revival series that will continue through next week. Congregational singing is in charge of Andy T. Ritchie. There will be no service Saturday night.

BIG BRITISH DIRIGIBLE SUFFERS DAMAGE TO FIN

LOXDON, April 24.—(AP)—It was reported from Cardington that the huge British dirigible R-100 was damaged while being brought out of her shed today, one of her starboard fins catching against the side of the shed and buckling slightly.

It was stated that the authorities were considering whether she should be taken back to her shed.

The R-100, which is scheduled to make a flight to Canada next month, was taken from her shed this morning in order to make a test flight preliminary to her Canadian voyage. Plans to make a flight today were abandoned.

Fire Deaths Unnecessary, Says Ohio Prison Official

Deputy Warden Agrees Holocaust Was Avoidable; Convicts Maintain Peace.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 24.—(AP) Closing another day of investigation to uncover the cause of the Ohio penitentiary fire, state officials tonight were told for the second time in two days that all of the 318 prisoners who lost their lives could have been saved.

The statement was made by Deputy Warden James P. Woodward, who, like Albert Niece, chief of the Columbus fire department, expressed the opinion that delay in unlocking the cells was responsible for the appalling death toll. Niece's statement was made to the investigators yesterday.

After a day of threatened violence the situation in the prison quieted tonight. At the regular supper the men in the idle house, where most of today's trouble occurred, were led out in companies to the dining halls. No untoward incident occurred while the men were eating.

When the convicts returned to their cell blocks they seemed more peaceful than at any time in 48 hours. They were not in their cells, but were out in the cages talking in quiet voices. It was not known if any effort would be made to put the prisoners in the cells, the locks of which had been broken and rendered useless.

Many of the convicts went into their cells, and with the doors ajar, entertained themselves by playing cards and checkers and listening to radios. There was much movement from cell to cell, but no disorders. The regular guards were on duty in the block.

In the guard room, in addition to the usual force, 10 Ohio national guardsmen with rifles and bayonets were quartered. Outside the walls guardsmen patrolled the four sides of the prison, while in a warehouse across the street 800 were ready to answer any emergency call.

Governor Cooper late today said he would take no action on the proposal to suspend the warden until after the investigation.

All prisoners who testified declared that more than half an hour elapsed between the discovery of the fire and the time doors of the cells were unlocked.

Albert Farr, of Hamilton county, a fire survivor, testified that the untrust among the prisoners was the culmination of things that had been brewing for years. He said an organized appeal had been sent to all convicts asking them to refuse to work until Warden Thomas is removed.

Committees have been appointed in each cell block to maintain order. Farr declared, but the effect will be conditional upon the ousting of the warden.

Notwithstanding the dismissal of the town's only policeman—due to a lack of funds in the town treasury—the speed limit in Clarkston has not been changed. J. R. N. Dillon, justice of the peace and a member of the Clarkston police committee, advised 'The Constitution' Thursday.

"The state law," Mr. Dillon writes, "requires that at street intersections the speed be reduced to eight miles per hour and if motorists will but be reasonable, and most of them are, there will be no need for a traffic officer."

"However," he said, "I want you to give publicity to the fact that if necessary I will issue a warrant and send my court officer to any part of the state and bring back anyone who violates the state law."

RED CROSS WILL OPEN ROLL-BOOTH TODAY

Progress of Enrollment Outlined by Chapter Chairman.

Booths where enrollments in the American Red Cross may be made are to be established in centrally located points and will be open today and Saturday, it was announced Thursday from Red Cross headquarters. Special booths will be opened at this time in Rich's store and the Hurt building.

"Many people in Atlanta have asked what is necessary in order to become a member of the Red Cross," said George K. Selden, chairman of the local chapter. "If you are one of those people, simply go to one of these booths or to Red Cross headquarters at 280 Peachtree street and say that you wish to join the Red Cross. You will be asked to fill in your name and address on an application card, and then upon the payment of your membership dues of $1 you will be presented with a Red Cross membership button, a window sticker, automobile emblem and a receipt showing that you are a member of the Atlanta chapter of the American Red Cross. Or, if you find it more convenient, simply mail your check in to Red Cross headquarters."

Peace-Time Organization. In reviewing the progress made with Red Cross enrollment in Atlanta this week, Mr. Selden made special reference to the fact that the American Red Cross is primarily a peace-time organization, on which account its continued membership from year to year is an important factor.

"The Red Cross came so prominently into play during the war, and likewise came so to the front in times of disaster," said Mr. Selden, "that the fact of its being basically a peace-time organization is likely to be overlooked. Yet when you stop to consider how much a part of each community where a Red Cross operates its different services have become, you realize what a powerful force it is in the everyday life of such communities. First aid, life saving, home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition, public health nursing, all these services have become indispensable parts of so many communities."

"Then the Red Cross supervises and directs the Junior Red Cross, which has itself a membership in Atlanta of over 50,000. Under the direction of the Red Cross these junior members are every day learning the value of service and are fitting themselves to make fine citizens."

Important Features. "One of the most important features of Red Cross activities in times of peace is its post-war service. It assists disabled war veterans to get into government hospitals, to secure compensations, and renders assistance to families of veterans who are in hospitals or otherwise ill and unable to support their families. During the past year the Red Cross records of Atlanta show the rehabilitation of approximately 1,000 families of ex-service men."

"The Red Cross is the first on the ground in times of disaster, to give help and assistance when it is most needed. It has an enrolled nurses' reserve, which makes a well developed organization that can perform efficiently on short notice in either war or disaster."

"And finally, though the Red Cross is primarily a peace-time organization, in the event of war it is an organization that can always be relied upon to perform services that are essential."

Crawford & Staten, prominent engineering firm, have announced a 100 per cent enrollment in the Red Cross. The Veterans' Bureau announces an enrollment of over one-third, with two days more in which to swell this enrollment.

CHINESE SENTENCE RUSSIAN KIDNAPERS

TIENSIN, China, April 24.—(AP) Four Russians convicted of kidnapping Aaron Brenner, New York fur dealer, last November, were sentenced to life imprisonment today by a Chinese judge. A fifth prisoner was sentenced to five years.

Brenner was kidnapped early in November and was held for a ransom of $500,000 but after being held nearly a week he was released.

Dr. Minchew Speaks Before City Club

Dr. B. H. Minchew, of Waycross, well-known optician, was the principal speaker before the City Club at its luncheon at the Piedmont hotel Thursday. His subject was "The Economic Value of Good Eyes."

Dr. Minchew spent four years in college in Atlanta, and for two years was associated with Dr. W. S. Elkin and Dr. W. S. Goldsmith when the Elkin-Goldsmith sanitarium was located at 29 Luckie street. In the preamble of his talk he paid his representing increase in the government's compensation policy for World War veterans was voted today by the house after more than a week of debate, climaxed by a tumultuous eight-hour session in which predictions were freely made that President Hoover would veto the measure.

In the face of protests by Chairman Wood of the appropriations committee, that such legislation should not be enacted in view of the president's request last Monday that expenditures be curtailed, a bill to provide compensation for every disability incurred up to January 1, 1930, was approved, 324 to 49, and sent to the senate.

Originally sponsored by Chairman Johnson, of the World War veterans committee, the measure was so greatly altered by amendment that its author, after failing in an effort to have it sent back to his committee, obtained unanimous consent to change its name to the "Rankin bill."

Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, was responsible for many of the changes in the measure. Among others was an amendment proposed by Representative Connelly, democrat, Massachusetts, advancing the time limit of the presumptive clause from January 1, 1925, as carried in the original bill, to January 1, 1930.

spects to Dr. B. Abercrombie, state commissioner of health, and to Judge E. C. Kutz, president of the City Club, through whose invitation he was slated to speak.

Accompanying his talk with slides Dr. Minchew stated, "The business men of Georgia must realize that agriculture is fundamentally our greatest resource, and while there may be big industrial development going on about us, machinery will do the most of this, and machinery is not operated by unskilled and unintelligent workmen. Therefore, in the development of our industrial resources we must improve the personnel of the individuals who operate the machines, and to improve our agricultural development, public health plays an important part. We cannot expect a migration of a new people into our agricultural territory until this matter of public health has been improved."

In the showing of slides, Dr. Minchew emphasized two important phases in the lives of the individual—a study of the health conditions as they relate to individuals and the study of remedies on the part of business groups.

INCREASE IS VOTED IN VETERAN PENSIONS

House Disregards Hoover Plea for Economy After Wild Session.

Morehouse-Spelman Concert Is Tonight

Considerable interest has been aroused in the annual concert of the Morehouse and Spelman musical groups in Sisters' chapel tonight. Dr. Will W. Alexander has complimented all delegates to the inter-racial conference with tickets to the affair and the delegates to the National Negro Insurance Association now in session here will attend in a body.

The program will be unusually interesting. The symphony orchestra of 50 pieces will play Offenbach's Orpheus, and the mixed chorus of 60 voices will sing "The Heavens Are Telling," from "The Creation." The quartet will sing a group of negro spirituals, as well as will the mixed chorus.

Revision of Figures Shows 65,941 Population Gain Here

Official Figures Changed by Census Bureau. Wrong 1920 Mark Used in Calculations.

The gross increase of the population of the borough of Atlanta in the past ten years has been 65,941 instead of 62,396, as announced earlier in the week, it developed Thursday from a comparison of the preliminary count with official figures of Atlanta's 1920 population as given in the census lists in Washington. The local office has been using the 1920 population figure of 204,191 as the basis of comparison with the present population. On that basis the present population of 269,557, as shown by the preliminary count, was an increase of 62,396. But the original records in Washington, it was learned Thursday, give Atlanta's 1920 population as 200,516. The apparent discrepancy, inquiry revealed, was due to the fact that 3,545 had been added to the 1920 population by officials in Washington when giving the local office material to be used for comparisons. The 3,545 represented the population of certain parts of the East Lake and Kirkwood districts which have been annexed to the city. The comparison of the census bureau, it was said, is based on relative populations of identical geographic areas, and must, therefore, consider the 1920 population of annexed areas to the 1920 population of the borough of Atlanta when making computations.

Continued Fair Weather Is Seen For City Today

A high temperature of about 70 degrees was forecast by the weather bureau for today, according to announcement made by C. F. von Herrmann Thursday. Fair weather is expected to prevail. Thursday morning the mercury, dropping to 44 degrees, reached a low mark for a period of several days. The low temperature has been running on the average of 50 to 55 degrees. The maximum was 60.

HARDEGREE RETRIAL NOW SET FOR MONDAY

The retrial of Elwell L. Hardegree, who appeared in federal court Wednesday on a charge of assaulting J. J. Griffin, deputy collector of internal revenue, ended in a mistrial, was set for next Monday by Clint W. Hager, United States district attorney, Thursday. Mr. Hager stated that he had not yet conferred with William Schley Howard, Hardegree's attorney, and might postpone the case for a few days if the date set was not convenient. "Hardegree will be put on trial again as soon as possible," he stated. Wednesday afternoon, following the mistrial, it was announced that the second trial would not be held before June. No explanation of the decision to hasten the case was given. Hardegree was the defendant in a recent sensational trial for the murder of A. H. Johnson, educator, whose body was found in a parked car last year during the National Education Association meeting. Hardegree walked into The Constitution last winter and confessed the killing. He was acquitted when tried in the Fulton superior court on a murder charge. The present assault charge is based on a fight between Hardegree and the federal employee last June. It was the outgrowth of political differences in the Hoover-Smith presidential campaign.

Mayor Receives Beauty Tourists

Latin-America's seven chief exponents of feminine pulchritude Thursday invaded the Atlanta city hall as guests of several leading civic organizations in the first good will tour of its kind ever staged between the two American continents. Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and other high city officials received them as they made an official call at the city hall. The group will remain in Atlanta for several days to see Stone Mountain, the cyclorama and other points of interest before continuing the trip across the United States.

Commission Approves Power Stock Issue

A petition of the Georgia Power Company asking authority to issue 375,000 shares of common stock and 6,000 shares of 8% preferred stock was approved by the Georgia public service commission Thursday. The case was heard Wednesday. James A. Perry, chairman of the commission, made the announcement.

HAGER WILL SPEAK AT LEGION LUNCHEON

Federal District Attorney To Be Guest at Luncheon Today.

Clint W. Hager, United States district attorney, will be the principal speaker before the American Legion at its regular weekly luncheon today at the Ansley hotel, it was announced Thursday by Robert Stowers, chairman of the entertainment committee. Other attractions on the program will be the Elodie Sullivan, formerly of the Fox chorus, and May Agnes Crawford, who will sing and dance. The reports of teams in the membership drive being conducted by the legion will be given at the meeting. The team headed by Frank Kempton, which has obtained 41 new members, is now in the lead.

1885 Atlanta Depicted In Power Pageant

Atlanta appeared as it was in 1885 at a meeting of women employees of the Georgia Power Company Thursday afternoon. The city of long ago appeared in the person of Miss Mary Louise Bailey, attired in mountainous bustle and billowing sleeves, who told of Atlanta as "a booming city of 3,000," all agog over the advent of trolley cars propelled by electricity. Contrasting in the "old-time" program of the meeting were impressions of Atlanta and its street railway system of their respective times of employment, given by Mrs. Gussie Craig, who is in her thirty-fifth year of employment, and by Miss Ruth Smith, who had been associated with the company exactly four days. Mrs. Craig's report was read by Miss Norma Jeffers, her granddaughter, who is also an employee. A history of the company from its many consistent beginnings was read by Miss Juliet Dowling.

Southern Employees To Picnic Saturday

Southern Railway system employees of the Atlanta division lines, the Atlanta shops and offices will celebrate Memorial Day by journeying to Macon for their annual picnic and basketball picnic, which will be held in Central City Park. Three special trains, the first of which will leave the Atlanta Terminal station at 7:30 Saturday morning and the others in rapid succession, have been lined up to carry the crowd. Returning, the trains will leave Macon early enough in the afternoon to put the excursionists at their homes for dinner. An elaborate program of events has been arranged for the entertainment of the crowd in which a baseball game and other athletic contests will play a big part. The outing is being operated under the auspices of the South Gate Club of Atlanta, an organization of Masons in the employ of the Southern, but all employees of the Southern and their friends are invited to attend.

DeKalb Men Voters Will Meet Tonight

The DeKalb County Men's League of Voters will hold an open meeting at the DeKalb county court house at 7:30 o'clock tonight and the speakers of the occasion will be Mrs. J. Dames and Judge Frank Harwell. The former will outline the work of the Women's League and the latter will speak in behalf of the Men's League. The public is cordially invited to be present at the meeting.

Lakewood Is Ready For Spring Opening

Final touches to weeks of preparation are to be made today at Lakewood Park, which will have its annual official opening Saturday. Over a dozen workmen will swing into action this morning and by evening everything is scheduled to be repainted and renovated for the active season which will last until October 1. Saturday's program calls for opening of the gates shortly before 9 o'clock, with the amusement devices scheduled to operate in entirety for the first time this year before noon, with a night program including band concerts by Lee's Lakewood band, free fireworks display in front of the grandstand and across the lake and the initial dance of the year at the Casino pavilion, where Rudy Mincey's Lakewood orchestra will provide the music with a seven-piece dance band. The musical and fireworks programs will be featured by patriotic and Confederate historical songs.

Atlanta Jews To Hear Prof. Morse Tonight

Professor Josiah Morse, instructor in philosophy at the University of South Carolina, will be the guest speaker at the Jewish temple services at 8 o'clock tonight. His subject will be: "Every Jew's Problem," which will deal with one of the most perplexing and difficult problems facing the Jewish race today. Professor Morse has been here on a number of previous occasions as the guest of the congregation as well as the sisterhood. The congregation holds its services temporarily in the United Liberal church, 669 West Peachtree street, N. E. New quarters are under construction on Peachtree road.

NORMAN MOVES TO GET STATE INCOME TAXES

Commissioner Mails Out First Blanks Under Boykin Law.

Revenue prospects at the state capital assumed an optimistic aspect Thursday when R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner, announced that the first blanks upon which statutory income tax returns will be made were being mailed from his office and that, with the first quarter of the year not yet over, almost $100,000 of gross sales tax revenue had been received. Thursday's mail alone brought in $27,000 of the revenue tax payments, bringing the total received to date to above $86,000. For the last quarter of 1929 almost $350,000 was paid in gross revenue taxes. The law provides that a tax must be paid on all gross sales in excess of $30,000 a year, or $7,500 quarterly. The distribution of blanks for statutory income tax returns will be pushed. Blanks may be obtained by application to Mr. Norman's office. Under a ruling of Mr. Norman the tax, the collection of which was postponed pending the decision of the supreme court on the law, must be paid by June 15.

FIVE PERSONS HURT IN STREET CAR CRASH

Passenger Injured When Trolley Hits Pole.

Five persons of an outbound Ponce de Leon-Emory University trolley car were injured at Briarcliff road and Byway Thursday morning when the street car jumped its track and struck an electric light pole. The list of injured included Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith, of a downtown hotel; Miss Lillian Smith, a student of the Atlanta Conservatory of Music, who resides at 1364 Lucile avenue; Liela Lindsay, nee of Rockdale Park, and Nora Glenn, a second nee, address unknown. All were given treatment at Grady hospital and their injuries were pronounced as "minor." M. H. Montgomery was the operator of the car and he stated that the trolley jumped its track when it gained momentum on a stretch of the track covered with tar from paving operations nearby. In striking the pole a high voltage wire was snapped, which subsequently set fire to the pole and a fire fighting apparatus was summoned. For a short while the street car and light service in that section of the city was interrupted but was soon placed in order by power company workmen.

Two Men Sentenced In Taxicab Robbery

Pleas of guilty to a charge of robbing a taxi driver of $8.40 Thursday brought sentences of from three to ten years for Paul Fowler, 21 and Clyde Griwell, 20, in Judge John D. Humphries division of Fulton superior court. The defendants were charged with robbing J. D. Bryant after they had engaged him to take them in a taxi cab to a lonely place on Howell Mill road.

Fulton High School Will Present Play

Members of the senior class of Fulton High school will present the annual senior play in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock Thursday night, May 1. It has been announced by Miss Gertrude Mathis, clerk. Proceeds from the performance will be for the benefit of the school annual. The play to be presented, is a comedy in three acts with an English setting and is entitled, "All-of-a Sudden Peggy."

Commission Approves Power Stock Issue

A petition of the Georgia Power Company asking authority to issue 375,000 shares of common stock and 6,000 shares of 8% preferred stock was approved by the Georgia public service commission Thursday. The case was heard Wednesday. James A. Perry, chairman of the commission, made the announcement.

Mayor Receives Beauty Tourists

Latin-America's seven chief exponents of feminine pulchritude Thursday invaded the Atlanta city hall as guests of several leading civic organizations in the first good will tour of its kind ever staged between the two American continents. Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and other high city officials received them as they made an official call at the city hall. The group will remain in Atlanta for several days to see Stone Mountain, the cyclorama and other points of interest before continuing the trip across the United States.

DeKalb Men Voters Will Meet Tonight

The DeKalb County Men's League of Voters will hold an open meeting at the DeKalb county court house at 7:30 o'clock tonight and the speakers of the occasion will be Mrs. J. Dames and Judge Frank Harwell. The former will outline the work of the Women's League and the latter will speak in behalf of the Men's League. The public is cordially invited to be present at the meeting.

Southern Employees To Picnic Saturday

Southern Railway system employees of the Atlanta division lines, the Atlanta shops and offices will celebrate Memorial Day by journeying to Macon for their annual picnic and basketball picnic, which will be held in Central City Park. Three special trains, the first of which will leave the Atlanta Terminal station at 7:30 Saturday morning and the others in rapid succession, have been lined up to carry the crowd. Returning, the trains will leave Macon early enough in the afternoon to put the excursionists at their homes for dinner. An elaborate program of events has been arranged for the entertainment of the crowd in which a baseball game and other athletic contests will play a big part. The outing is being operated under the auspices of the South Gate Club of Atlanta, an organization of Masons in the employ of the Southern, but all employees of the Southern and their friends are invited to attend.

Lakewood Is Ready For Spring Opening

Final touches to weeks of preparation are to be made today at Lakewood Park, which will have its annual official opening Saturday. Over a dozen workmen will swing into action this morning and by evening everything is scheduled to be repainted and renovated for the active season which will last until October 1. Saturday's program calls for opening of the gates shortly before 9 o'clock, with the amusement devices scheduled to operate in entirety for the first time this year before noon, with a night program including band concerts by Lee's Lakewood band, free fireworks display in front of the grandstand and across the lake and the initial dance of the year at the Casino pavilion, where Rudy Mincey's Lakewood orchestra will provide the music with a seven-piece dance band. The musical and fireworks programs will be featured by patriotic and Confederate historical songs.

Forsyth Street Viaduct Work Gets New Setbacks

Cannot Get Needed Steel Before May 2, Alex MacDougald Declares.

Additional work on the southern span of the Forsyth street viaduct cannot begin until May 2, it was announced Thursday by Alexander MacDougald, president of the MacDougald Construction Company, contractors on the project.

The delay is caused by fabrication of the steel and the first shipment probably cannot reach Atlanta before that date, MacDougald said.

In the interim, traffic is being diverted over Broad street and the Spring street viaduct, and the sections to the north and south of the Forsyth bridge is virtually paralyzed because of the congestion and the inaccessibility to business houses in that vicinity.

MacDougald Thursday stated that he placed the order for the steel just as soon as he was awarded the contract, and that he is doing everything in his power to rush the work on the structure. All foundation work is completed and just as the steel arrives it can be put into place.

Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, declared that he recommended reconstruction of the Forsyth street bridge the first of the year, but that the contract was let for the work less than a month ago.

"The reason that work could not progress as the work on the northern span did is because the borough and the county governments did not make funds available in time," Mr. Donaldson said.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale held up the actual signing of the contract with the construction company for several days until the $30,000 which Fulton county had promised was finally appropriated. MacDougald's forces were at work on the structure several days before the contract was actually signed.

"We worked night and day on the structure just as soon as we knew we were to get the contract," MacDougald said. "We waived every formality in an effort to rush the job and prevent the bridge from being closed a single day longer than was absolutely necessary. When the steel arrives we will put our forces to work again night and day and complete the work with all possible speed."

Motor Car Comes Out Badly in Clash With Old Buggy

An automobile came out second best Thursday when a horse and buggy of the vintage of the last decade climbed all over the motor driven vehicle at a busy Atlanta street crossing.

It wasn't a collision! The only wreck was to the automobile. And although three men were involved in the entanglement, the only casualty was suffered by the horse which received a broken leg.

The horse ran away during the early afternoon, galloping down Capitol avenue toward Fair street. Just at the psychological moment, a sport coupe driven by H. B. Weber, 448 Flat Shoals avenue, started across Capitol avenue. The horse took the rear of the auto at one leap, climbing over the rumble seat and on to the top, crashing through the top and dismounting via the hood.

The driver of the buggy, George Collier, 116 Pratt street, was thrown to the street and the buggy parted company with the horse during its mad scramble over the car, which was moving slowly across the intersection all this time.

J. O. Conway, of the Atlanta Oak Flooring Company, a passenger in the coupe when the horse's hooves came crashing down through the top, was stunned but otherwise unhurt. Collier was uninjured.

Christianity Stands Test, Revivalist Says

Christianity stands the test of scientific analysis by proving the truth of its promises in the daily lives of those who practice it, the Rev. G. Ray Jordan, of Charlotte, N. C., told the congregation at Grace Methodist church Thursday night. He is conducting a revival there with services daily at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., assisted by S. M. White, song leader, and the Rev. R. Z. Tyler, pastor.

"If a scientist wants to prove beyond all doubt the two parts of hydrogen and one part of oxygen will combine into water, he takes the gases in a laboratory and actually sees it happen," the evangelist declared. "To apply the same scientific method to proving the regenerative power of Christianity, he has only to observe the lives of men and women who have been converted. That kind of proof is indisputable and explodes all the theorizing of agnostics and skeptics."

Mr. Jordan is a graduate of Emory University, where he made a record not since equaled of making 100 in his Hebrew classes throughout his college course. He later received the master of arts degree at Yale. He is pastor of the Dilworth Methodist church at Charlotte, built by the late James B. Duke.

Duval Manager Here Goes to Convention

Charles L. Wells, manager of the Atlanta store of the Duval Jewelry Company, which operates in a number of Florida cities, has gone to Tampa to attend the annual convention of store managers and officers of the company.

The convention, held ordinarily in Jacksonville, where the company maintains its headquarters, is being held in Tampa this year so that the managers may have an opportunity to see the company's new store in that city, which is considered one of the finest in the south.

A. O. Jenkins, president of the company, and G. D. Goff, vice president, were in Atlanta last week for the first time since they attended the opening of their local store, and regarded business conditions as highly satisfactory. They hope, however, to be able to visit the Atlanta store every month in the future.

At the managers' convention, the company's plans for the coming year will be outlined and sales policies discussed. Mr. Wells said before leaving for Tampa. In view of what has been said concerning the new Tampa store, Mr. Wells looked forward to seeing it with much pleasure.

Cemetery Is Ready For Memorial Day

The state-owned cemetery at Marietta, containing the graves of thousands of Confederate soldiers, has been put in excellent condition for memorial exercises Friday at which Attorney-General George M. Napier will be the principal speaker. It was announced Thursday.

The cemetery is the only one owned in fee simple by the state. The bodies of Confederate soldiers from many points in north Georgia were removed there after the close of the Civil War.

The exercises, which are in celebration of Memorial Day, will be held Friday instead of Saturday in order that the school children of Marietta and Cobb county may participate.

NAPIER TO DELIVER MEMORIAL ADDRESS

Attorney-General Heads Program in Marietta Friday.

MARIETTA, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—This little city, in which is located the only cemetery owned in fee simple by the state of Georgia, and Cobb county will celebrate Confederate Memorial Day Friday in order that the school children may participate.

Attorney-General George M. Napier will make the chief address at the memorial exercises, to be held at the cemetery where the buried Confederate soldiers from all parts of northwest Georgia. The legislature last year appropriated $2,000 for improvement of the plot and Representative Orlando Aubrey, of Cobb county, who introduced the bill, says he will attempt to secure an annual appropriation for that purpose.

W. D. Thurmond, keeper of buildings and grounds at the state capital, has supervised expenditure of the fund.

Jackson to Speak at Perry. PERRY, Ga., April 24.—Memorial Day exercises will be held here Friday at the school auditorium instead of April 26, so that the school children may take part in the observance. The program is being arranged by the Savannah Clinton Duncanson chapter of the U. D. C.

Dr. J. H. Jackson, of Macon, superintendent of the Georgia State Hospital, will deliver the address. A musical program is being planned by Mrs. J. M. Gooden. Prizes of $5 in gold will be awarded by Ruby Ingram and Miriam Gordy, winners in the historical essay contest.

The only surviving Confederate veteran in Houston county, C. W. Matthews, and woman of the Confederacy, Mrs. F. E. Norwood, will be honored guests at a dinner to be given by Mrs. John L. Hodges, president of the U. D. C. chapter, preceding the exercises which will begin at 2:30 o'clock, eastern time.

Following the program the audience will go to Evergreen cemetery to pay tribute to the veterans who are buried there.

Athens Program. ATHENS, Ga., April 24.—T. W. Reed, registrar at the University of Georgia, will deliver the Memorial Day address here Saturday. The members of Cobb-Delaware camp, U. C. V., of Marietta, will be entertained at a dinner at the Young Men's Christian Association at 1 o'clock Saturday.

Health Program Planned. ATHENS, Ga., April 24.—The Clarke County Medical Society will take part in the observance of Georgia Health Education Week May 5-10, it is announced by Dr. J. A. Hunsicutt, president.

The Swift 1930 Way For Thin Women To Gain Weight, Physical Charm and Attractive Figure

Your Druggist Says Magic Vitamin Tablets Must Satisfy You or Money Back.

Every woman wants and ought to possess a shapely figure, sparkling vivacity and physical charm—it is her birthright. And she doesn't need to spend a fortune to get it. The 1930 woman is putting her faith in Vitamins—she doesn't know what they are and she doesn't care, but she has sense enough to know that Vitamins are a magic essential that Nature says all humans must have to be healthy, vigorous, physically attractive and keen in mind. There are no drugs of any kind in McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets, but there is a faithful supply of body and weight building Vitamins—the kind that makes you vigorous and ambidextrous and puts into your body the "power to resist disease." Probably ninety per cent of the women of America need more Vitamins and here is the speedy sure way to get them. If you really want to increase your weight and gain for yourself a lively, spirited personality—if you want to gain a clear, clean skin and lovely complexion, just take two McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets after each meal and two at bedtime. These magic tablets are small, sugar coated and easy to take and it will only take 21 days to prove to you that glorious health is worth more than riches. Just say, "I want McCoy's." Your druggist and every druggist in America knows about these improved tablets—60 tablets, 60 cents and if you are not joyfully satisfied after 21 days ask for and you will get your money back. You get your Vitamins winter and summer with McCoy's. (adv.)

LEA'S TONIC IMPROVED MY HAIR WONDERFULLY, SHE SAYS

Hair Was Thin—Falling Out Badly—Scalp Was Dry, Also Dandruff.

TELLS HOW SHE GAINED BACK BEAUTIFUL HAIR

"My scalp was dry and falling hair dandruff worried me. In fact I was almost bald, my hair was so thin until the lucky day I found a Godsend in Lea's Hair Tonic at the drug store. I cannot praise Lea's enough. I had already used most every kind of tonic that came to my notice but to no avail so you can imagine how delighted I am with Lea's. I began using it just about one year ago and now my hair is thick, glossy, full of life and really beautiful I think, and friends say so too. I have used in all perhaps twenty-five bottles, but it enhances my appearance so much I continue to use it and probably always will, every now and then, to keep my scalp and hair in perfect condition. I beg of those who have hair or scalp trouble to give Lea's Hair Tonic a thorough trial. They positively will not be disappointed. I swear it," declared Mrs. Nellie Gerne, 327 Westmont Ave., Westmont, N. J.

People troubled like Mrs. Gerne can easily prove to themselves at home at little expense, how much younger, neater and more presentable they look when the hair is in perfect shape. Even when the hair has turned gray, dead-looking or streaked, Lea's Tonic after a few weeks' use puts all those gray hairs right back to a youthful sheen. It seems to put nature back on the job growing a full head of vigorous, even colored, healthy hair. It doesn't show. Druggists are authorized to cheerfully refund money if you are not delighted, or send dollar bill, check or stamps for bottle by return mail postage paid, to Lea Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md.—(adv.)

Henry Ford Increases Holdings in Georgia

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—Six hundred additional acres of Bryan county land have been added to the holdings of Henry Ford, the automobile magnate, through the purchase of property owned by B. L. Sheppard, of Savannah.

Mr. Sheppard's land just sold comprises two plantations, one designated as Sheppard's and another usually known as the old Rankin farm. They lie between the Cottenham estate and Killarney pastures, two other plantations now in possession of Mr. Ford.

1 SLAIN, 2 WOUNDED IN LAND DISPUTE

FORT PAYNE, Ala., April 24.—(AP)—Objections of a farmer to the work of a survey party running the Georgia-Alabama state line through his farm 12 miles from here today caused the slaying of an officer, the probable fatal wounding of the property owner and injury to another officer.

S. O. Wester, 26-year-old DeKalb county deputy sheriff, was slain by the property owner, Oscar Colter, 42, who was in turn probably fatally wounded by William Smith, another deputy sheriff whom he wounded.

The officers had gone to Colter's farm to serve a peace warrant sworn out by the surveying party on allegations that the farmer had threatened them with a gun as they ran the state line through the middle of his property.

Smith said as he, Wester and another man approached Colter and ordered him to surrender, he opened fire with a shotgun. Wester dropped dead, a charge of shot in his body. Smith, wounded, fell behind a log and emptied his pistol at Colter who dropped with four bullet wounds in his body.

Colter was brought to a hospital here where it was said his wounds probably would prove fatal.

World War Vet Commits Suicide

MACON, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—A coroner's jury late today held that William Henry Harden, 35, World War veteran, shot himself at his home here early this morning.

The suicide occurred at the family residence. Neighbors who responded to Mrs. Harden's screams said they found him strangled upon the floor with a bullet in his breast.

He was a native of Jones county, was a Mason and Shriner and served overseas with the 121st medical corps. Police said that he had been working at a local filling station and several days ago reported that he had been held up and robbed there early one morning.

MACON ELECTION PROBE WILL BEGIN ON MAY 12

MACON, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—Grand jury investigation of alleged irregularities in the recent $1,000,000 bond election will not begin until May 12, it was learned today.

In the meantime a committee appointed by the grand jury will go into the matter with Solicitor Charles H. Garrett, and have everything ready for rapid action. The grand jury recessed today until Tuesday at which time the committee will be named, it was stated.

JENKINS IS ELECTED BY ATHENS ROTARIANS

ATHENS, Ga., April 24.—John W. Jenkins, professor of economics at the University of Georgia, school of commerce, has been elected president of the Athens Rotary Club, it was announced today.

Professor Jenkins succeeds Lee Morris, prominent Athens merchant, as president. Paul V. Chapman, director of vocational education for Georgia, was elected vice president, succeeding Mr. Jenkins, and J. L. Sexton, secretary and treasurer. Weaver Bridges was elected sergeant-at-arms and the directors include President Jenkins, Professor Chapman, B. M. Grier, W. H. Benson, W. E. Cabaniss, J. L. Sexton, Lee Morris and Sam Woods. The latter is secretary of the club and editor of its weekly paper.

Professor Jenkins is one of the best-known educators in the state. He and Professor Chapman are both widely known in their professions, and have been active members of the Rotary Club here as well as in the state for several years.

JEWELERS TO ELECT OFFICERS FRIDAY

MACON, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—The principal business of the closing session of the Georgia Retail Jewelers' Association here Friday will be the election of officers. Three addresses will be made in the morning session. E. P. Tomlinson, Atlanta, presided at the opening session Thursday.

Gay Armstrong, president of the Macon Retail Jewelers' Association, welcomed the visitors. The response was by Fred Schonberg, president of the Columbus association.

"We have had passed in Atlanta," President Tomlinson said, "an ordinance which prevents auctioneers from coming in and holding their so-called sales. Columbus also has passed similar ordinances with benefit to both. New York city has taken our action as a basis for similar rulings there, and so has Newark, N. J."

He also spoke of the misuse of the word diamond and of the steps taken to prevent its use by corner store interlopers who offered "Mexican diamonds."

FT. M'PHERSON MEN TO FIGHT STEM RUST

FORT M'PHERSON, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—A radiogram received today at the headquarters of the fourth corps area stated that the secretary of war has directed certain air station commanders to co-operate with department of agriculture representatives in fighting stem rust.

Commanding officers at Kelly field, San Francisco, Texas; Fort Sill, Okla.; Fort Riley, Kansas; Chanute field, Hantoni, Ill., and Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, have been directed to permit accredited agents of the department of agriculture to make such flights in the conduct of experiments looking to the extermination of stem rust in wheat and other grains as may prove possible without serious interference with military activities.

MRS. MARGARET FULLER DIES IN GRANTVILLE

GRANTVILLE, Ga., April 24.—Mrs. Margaret R. Fuller, 57, widow of the late J. C. Fuller, who for many years was a prominent merchant in Atlanta, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. M. Eubanks, here Thursday. Her only other daughter is Mrs. Mary J. Eubanks, of Atlanta, with whom she had made her home for the past five years.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Barclay & Brundage funeral home, with Dr. T. R. Kendall, Sr., assisted by Dr. T. R. Kendall, Jr., officiating. Interment will be in the Oakland cemetery. Grandsons will act as pallbearers.

MISSING SHERIFF IS BELIEVED FOUND

I. K. Horn Reported on Way Back to Donaldsonville to Face Charges.

DONALDSONVILLE, La., April 24.—(AP)—I. K. Horn, former sheriff of Seminoe county, who disappeared ten days ago after arranging an alleged plot to cover a reported shortage in his accounts, tonight was believed to be on his way back from Baton Rouge, La., unaccompanied by officers, to face whatever charges may be brought against him.

The first definite information as to Horn's whereabouts since he left here April 14, supposing he had been a prisoner from Arcadia, Fla., was received today when the former sheriff communicated by telephone with C. L. Reynolds, sheriff of the parish.

Reynolds said Horn told him he had been arrested in the Louisiana city as he was preparing to return to his home in Arcadia, Fla., and that he had not been arrested in the circumstances of the case.

Upon learning of Horn's arrest, Reynolds said he had been informed by the Louisiana state police that he had been arrested in the parish.

Fire-Eater Starts Fire In Rome Residence

ROME, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—Imagine the surprise of the Rome firemen who made a dash to a residence on Avenue A. They found not one fire, but two. One of the fires was in the basement, the other was on the end of a stick, in the mouth of a young Rome citizen who was learning to be a human fire-eater.

A number of boys in the neighborhood had gathered in the basement to see the young Roman literally eat fire. They said that everything went along in red hot style until the fire-eater dropped one of the oil-covered sticks on a trash pile.

Fire Chief Taylor issued an appeal that henceforward fire-eaters use the wide open spaces in the practice of their art.

'Drunk,' Stricken In Jail, Dies

MACON, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—Police were seeking today to communicate with a sister in Augusta of J. S. Garrimore, who died last night from effects of a heart attack suffered while he was held prisoner in police barracks.

Garrimore was held in jail on a charge of drunkenness. He was stricken last night and died a few minutes after reaching a hospital.

T. C. MARSHALL HEADS GEORGIA PHARMACISTS

Atlanta Elected as 2-Day Convention Closes at Macon.

MACON, Ga., April 24.—T. C. Marshall, Atlanta, was elected president of the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association at the closing session of that body this afternoon.

Other officers elected are: Claude Rountree, Thomasville, first vice president; J. L. Hawk, Atlanta, second vice president; M. D. Hodges, Marietta, third vice president. The secretary-treasurer will be elected by the executive board. T. C. Deen was elected to the state board of pharmacy.

Macon was selected as the next convention city, being the choice over Havana and Atlanta.

A. S. Johnson and J. H. Abernethy were elected president and secretary-treasurer of the Georgia traveling men's auxiliary, respectively.

Officers of the women's auxiliary are: Mrs. Charles Evans, Warren, president; Mrs. N. S. Arthur, Athens, vice president; Mrs. J. L. Williams, Macon, secretary-treasurer.

The association voted to sponsor the substitution of a legislative bill replacing the tobacco stamp tax with a flat floor tax on dealers handling tobacco goods.

Swamp Is Searched For Negro Attacker

MACON, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—Search for an unidentified negro who three days ago attacked an aged white woman near Sylva with an axe and was frightened away after choking her daughter was under way in a swamp near here tonight.

A negro answering description of the wanted man was seen by officers to flee into the swamp after leaving a freight train as it rolled into the Macon yards.

First reports that a suspect to the crime was near Macon reached officers from a watchman at a railroad tower who said he saw a negro leap off a freight train as it entered the yards last night and board it again as it picked up speed. The watchman said he negro answered printed descriptions of the assailant.

He notified police but before they arrived the negro left the train again and headed for the swamp, into which he vanished just as a posse arrived.

Despite serious wounds inflicted by the negro with an axe, the aged Sylva woman saved her daughter by frightening him away with a shotgun as he grappled with the girl.

3 Warrants Sworn In Forest Fires

WAYCROSS, Ga., April 24.—Three warrants have been sworn out in Atkinson county charging "malicious mischief in setting fire to the woods." The cases will be tried in Bacon county court unless an adjournment of property damage can be made. Cases have been made in several south Georgia counties during the past year in connection with the burning of timber lands.

Dobson Case Reaches Jury

ROME, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—The case of Archie Dobson, youthful filling station operator charged with murder in connection with the killing several weeks ago of Guy "Preacher" Burnes, farmer, was in the hands of the jury tonight. The jurors started their deliberations shortly after noon and had made no report up to the time they retired for the night.

The trial started yesterday. The state's evidence was to the effect that Burnes had been shot in the back without provocation, but the defense introduced testimony that Burnes had been drinking and had attacked Dobson.

TRION GAINS

ROME, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—The supervisor of the census today announced a preliminary population total of 3,289 for the city of Trion, Chattooga county. This compared with 1,588 in 1920, an increase of approximately 107 per cent.

Can You Do Your Housework?

If you are not as well as you want to be, if you are weak, nervous or rundown, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. Take at least three bottles. It will tone up your whole system and help you to eat better, sleep better and feel better.

Mrs. Marie Vriesenga, 2002 Lexington Ave., New York, New York.

"My work is keeping a rooming house in New York. I was weak and tired and didn't seem to feel well at all. Some friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it four times a day. It has helped me very much. I feel better in all ways now."

Ask Your Friends

Mrs. Paulina Pascuzzi, 316 Tremont Ave., East Orange, New Jersey.

"I never had any appetite and I could not sleep well, and I was irregular and often suffered from headaches because of my age. I read a booklet left at my door, and so I took eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have also taken the Herb Medicine. I feel stronger in every way now. I have gained weight and am not nearly so nervous and can do my housework without getting too tired."

Edna Shuraff, 1129 Daly St., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

"I was completely rundown from nursing. I took four bottles of your medicine with very good results. I have been a nurse for twenty years without losing a patient, I am proud to say, I will continue to recommend any of the Lydia E. Pinkham products at any time and you may use my name."

Baby ills and ailments seem worse as serious at night. A sudden it is always important to check quickly. How would you meet this emergency—tonight?

Have you a bottle of Castoria ready? There is nothing that can take the place of this harmless yet effective remedy for children;
nothing that acts quite the same,

For the protection of your wee-

Thirty-Ninth Installment.

The dark eyes were lowered rapidly. The woman was looking at the luminous dial of a small clock before her on the table.

She began to issue an order. . . In a locked cabin on White Hawk a man was kneeling in fervent prayer. In Stopford's room, Partington, his message on X Radio spoken, lay, ghastly, on the bed.

"Commander Roscoe will join you in a moment, sir," announced a voice on the bridge.

"Captain Ransome didn't hear the voice. He was watching a queer-looking flying-boat receding into the sunset, apparently pursued by an airplane, which, coming up from the northeast, was now heading back. A distant siren sounded its deep, warning note.

"La Patrie!" said the chief officer. "We're dead in her track."

Captain Ransome lowered his glasses, and:

"Well," said he, "can you beat it?" But the inscrutable Force which Omar named The Potter and which the Arab knows as Kismet had been operating that evening.

Drake Roscoe wondered why the dream continued. He had passed the stage at which it held complete sway and had come to that phase when one knows one is dreaming, but yet doesn't awaken. And still the journey continued—down, and down, and down. The descending passage became suddenly very steep, ending in a natural shaft of indeterminate depth. In this subterranean chimney a zig-zag wooden staircase had been constructed. It was inadequately lighted by electric lamps. The sound of falling water was heard.

"Wake up!" Roscoe gave himself the unspoken order urgently.

"On to the ladders!" said a harsh voice.

The dream prevailed. It was extraordinary—unnanny. His wrists, manacled behind him, were very painful.

A grotesquely ugly negro began to descend ahead of him. And Drake Roscoe followed, passive again. The negro passed 15 landings and stood in an entrance to a tunnel. Passively following the negro, Roscoe walked to the end of the tunnel.

A wooden rail barred further progress. The ray of the negro's torch shone upon still, black water. There was some uncharted, unsuspected, subterranean lake. . . Where?

"Wake up!" Drake Roscoe's will struggled to regain charge.

"Sit down!" the harsh voice commanded.

Roscoe observed a wooden bench beside the granite wall, and upon this he dropped wearily. But he had seen the speaker: A thicket man rather untidily dressed, wearing a black half-mask.

A light sprang up before a small wooden cupboard in the granite wall. The man opened the cupboard and revealed an outfit similar to a police telephone. It differed in that it possessed twin receivers attached to a headpiece, familiar to listeners, and clearly designed to enable the caller to eliminate the sound of falling water.

The headpiece adjusted: "Zone 2-C," said the man. "Standing by in gallery to report."

Drake Roscoe started. He was awake at last!

In a vault hewn out of the living rock on which New York stands, a dim light shone upon the figure of a woman seated behind a long, narrow table. In the darkness before her a spot of red light glowed. And now a voice announced:

"H. Q." "Report of Sector captain covering Commander Drake Roscoe," the woman ordered.

"Report to hand. Sector Captain 1-A-3 reports that Commander Drake Roscoe left apartment at 7:05 and proceeded to house of Bronson. Group master covering. Timed 7:15. Report ends."

"Report of chief chemist."

"To hand. Operating in library, chief chemist projected T. N. vapor, prepared for purpose. Subject became immediately unconscious. Chief chemist employed restoratives and proceeded according to plan. Prisoner, in passive state, handed over to divisional chief standing in Entrance one. Timed 7:30. Report ends."

"Report," directed the woman's cold voice. "To hand. Prisoner taken over from chief chemist and removed to car standing by. Driven to entrance two. The movement covered by police but not followed up. Handed over to Zone Officer 2 C. Timed 7:40. Report ends."

A brief interval. Then: A strict guide to bring Commander Drake Roscoe to H. Q. Group Master A, Zone X, will assist. Move. Connect chief chemist."

The red light died. A blue one came to life, and:

"Laboratory," a voice announced. Roscoe remembered the episodes leading up to this evil thing which he had dreamed to be a dream. He recalled how, conscious of the monstrous purpose of the zones, he had made sure of the safety of Wilberforce Wright—potential governor—and had hurried to the home of Lewis Bronson, Wright's only rival.

He had been received in the gloomy, old-style mansion where Bronson, last of a once famous family and promising to add final lustre to the name, lived in mysterious seclusion.

"Silver tongue," his faction called him. "Red Lou" was the sobriquet coined by his enemies. He had gone far, and millions looked to see him go further. He had qualities which delighted his supporters—and frightened his opponents.

Roscoe was ushered into a vast, book-lined library, shadowed, and impressive by reason of its family associations.

Lewis Bronson he had never met. He only knew him by name and in appearance through the medium of the illustrated newspapers. The real man surprised him.

He was seated behind a big table—a smallish figure, having scanty red hair, pallid complexion, and colorless eyes. But his magnetic dark eyes were the eyes of a conqueror.

And when he rose to greet his visitor, Roscoe's heart seemed to miss a beat.

Given a dark hair and a different complexion, Bronson would have been the double of Napoleon. So much granted, Bronson. . . But at this point, Roscoe's mind had reached its limit. He had taken no drink. He was not smoking. He had just been sitting talking to Bronson and trying to behave naturally, diplomatically, in the presence of this monster.

Now, in a huge, primeval cavern, beneath the metropolis five, ten, fifteen minutes passed. Only the deathless echo of falling water carried on relentlessly—ghostly because of its monotony. Because it seemed to have been repeating itself not for hundreds, nor for thousands, but for millions of years.

The man who had spoken on the phone in the cabinet had returned, seating himself beside Roscoe. He had extinguished the light. The hideous negro sat on the other side of the prisoner. Both of his guards held him firmly. His wrists were handcuffed behind him. And the darkness was like that of the pit.

Then, a tiny speck a vast way off, a light appeared.

Almost imperceptibly it came nearer, until it revealed granite walls, irregular, monstrous, rearing up into great pools of shadows—still, black water below.

Along a narrow path, a mere ledge above this pre-historic lake, a man appeared carrying a torch.

His was a wild, disheveled figure—his gray hair a mane, his beard long and matted. And he cried out as he walked, seemingly addressing an unseen company.

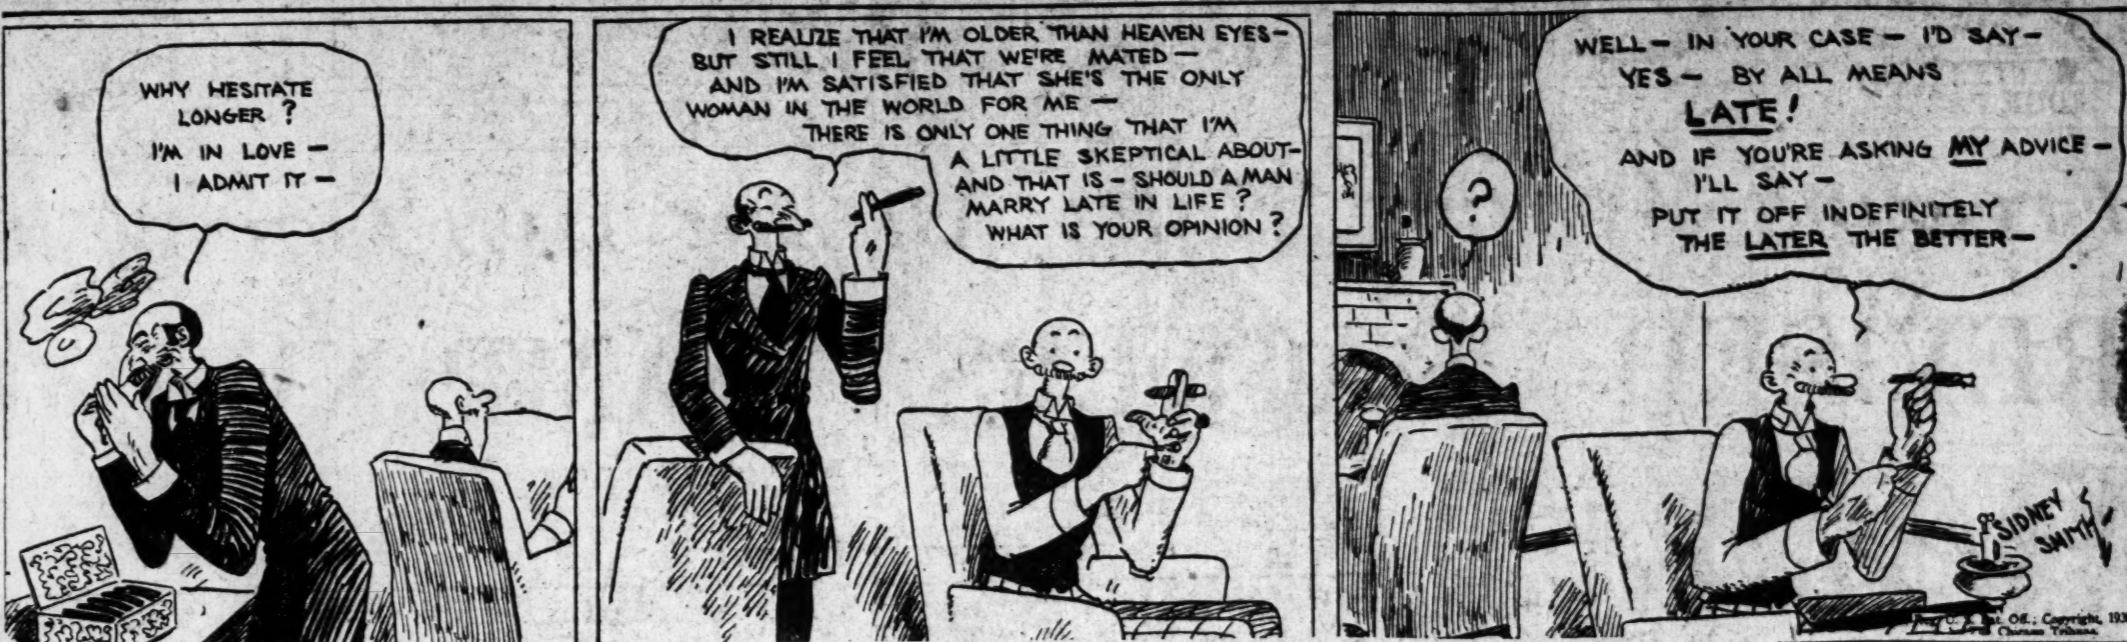

The light of his torch, as he approached, shone upward and downward. Sometimes his ray was lost in unexplorable shadows above. Sometimes it glittered on the tideless water beneath.

Perilous though the path appeared to be, this wild creature walked it confidently, coming at last to the narrow rock gallery with its protecting wooden rail.

Prep Baseball Teams Begin Second Half of Schedule Today

THREE GAMES ARE ON SLATE THIS AFTERNOON

Tech High, Leading Field, Meets Fulton at Piedmont Park.

By Roy White.

Atlanta's nine city prep teams will start the second half of the 1930 baseball schedule at 3 o'clock this afternoon with three games on the card. Two of the games will be played at Piedmont park between Tech High and Fulton and University and Marist. G. M. A. will play Commercial at Kirkwood park. Deatur and Russell played Thursday afternoon at East Point and Boys' High will be idle today.

Tech High with six victories and one defeat is leading the league. Marist college is second with five victories and two defeats, and Fulton is firmly entrenched in third place with five victories and three defeats. Boys' High and G. M. A. are down in the second division.

SMITHIES STOPPED. Marist college stopped the Tech High winning streak Friday afternoon with a well-earned 4-to-3 victory on the Henry Grady field and stands an excellent chance of retaining its position in the first division. The Beane men suffered two unexpected defeats by Commercial and Russell, but rallied to beat the stronger opposition. Marist will face a tough opponent in University School this afternoon at Piedmont park.

The Smithies were off to a good start due to the brilliant pitching of Chambers and English but fell before the Marist team last Friday when Mable failed to check the Marist batters. Chambers relieved Mable in the third inning and struck out 18 Marist batters, but the four runs had been made off Mable and Tech High due to the brilliant pitching of Holt, of Marist, was unable to overcome the Marist lead.

Fulton, after a bad start, has played exceptionally good baseball in its past games. Coach Lucien Hope has a well balanced team at present and has the best battery in the league in Norton and Ford. Norton started the season as a first baseman but proved his ability as a relief pitcher and has been drawing the assignment regularly during the past three weeks.

FORD OUTSTANDING. Ford is the outstanding catcher in the league. His chief asset is an ability to stop base stealers with perfect throws to second base. Tech High and Fulton should play the best game of the afternoon card with the University-Marist running a close second and both games will be played at Piedmont park.

Due to bad weather in the first few weeks of play, six postponed games remain to be played off, and G. M. A. has three of those games to play. The annual government inspection of the military department of G. M. A. caused a postponement of two games and only one of the last Friday games were played. The other three were started but rained out before four and one-half innings had been played. An effort will be made

Bowed Tendon Stops Boojum

NEW YORK, April 24.—(AP)—Boojum, Harry Payne Whitney's star three-year-old, may not face the barrier this season. The great son of John P. Grier, which ranked second only to his stablemate, Whirlwind, as a two-year-old, has been withdrawn from the Preakness to be run at Pimlico May 9 on account of a bowed tendon. Tom Healy, trainer of the Whitney thoroughbreds, has announced Boojum will be retired for some time to give the weak tendon a chance to improve.

PREP OFFICIALS IN PLAYER ROW

In a stormy session at the Atlanta Athletic Club Thursday night, members of the City Prep league overruled the baseball committee and decided to leave the eligibility of B. Baldwin, Boys' High first baseman, in the hands of W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech football coach and arbitrator of the Prep league.

At times during the heated discussion it became necessary for W. W. Rampley, president of the league, to rap for order. The Beane men suffered two unexpected defeats by Commercial and Russell, but rallied to beat the stronger opposition. Marist will face a tough opponent in University School this afternoon at Piedmont park.

UNSUCCESSFUL. It was one of the most unsuccessful meetings that the league held in several years and resulted finally in President Rampley appointing Judge of Marist, L. L. McIlwain, of University school, and E. P. McIlwain, of Fulton, on a committee to make recommendations for a revision and amendments to the league constitution to be presented next October at the annual meeting and election of officers.

E. P. McIlwain, of Fulton, chairman of the baseball committee, reported that Baldwin had been protested and that after investigation he was found to be ineligible, on grounds of not having been a regular attendant at Boys' High since last September. McIlwain stated that H. O. Smith, principal of Boys' High, had not filed a certificate on Baldwin's eligibility.

R. L. Doyal, Boys' High coach and a member of the baseball committee, made a motion to rescind the action of the committee on Baldwin's ineligibility. His motion received only two votes. Coach Tolbert, of Tech High, made a motion to rescind the action of mitter's action. Tolbert's motion was carried.

Doyal then cited a clause in the constitution—where all matters of eligibility of players shall be left to the league arbitrator and declared that the case of Baldwin will be carried to Coach Alexander. At this juncture it was decided that no Prep league committee has authority or power to act on the eligibility of players, and the appointment of a committee to make recommendations for next year followed.

It was decided that the prep swimming meet will be held May 10 at the Atlanta Athletic Club and Joe Bean, of Marist; G. W. Hodges, of University, and Captain Deck, of G. M. A., will supervise plans for the meet. Special events will be included on the program for girls. A Prep league

FRANK HUNTER AND LOTT LOSE IN SEMI-FINALS

Van Ryn and Allison Continue March and Enter Finals.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 24.—(AP)—Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, and George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, Davis cup stars, saw their hopes of gaining permanent possession of the Plaza bowl crushed to earth this afternoon in the singles semi-final round of the Mason and Dixon championship by the youthful Davis cup doubles combination, John Van Ryn, of South Orange, N. J., and Wilmer Allison, Jr., of Austin, Texas. Both Hunter and Lott held two legs on the trophy.

VAN RYN WINS. The veteran Hunter lost an exciting contest on the Casino courts to Van Ryn. The scores were 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 and 6-4.

In the other semi-final contest Lott, after starting aggressively and winning the first two sets, was unable to withstand the inspired Allison. The scores in this match were 4-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

The drama of the day's play was furnished in the Hunter-Van Ryn contest. The gallery was divided in its sympathy between the two.

Van Ryn flashed his racquet all over the court to make remarkable gets and placements. Frequently as the veteran started to the net Van Ryn would pass his backhand drive.

BRILLIANT PLAY. The Lott-Allison contest was no less thrilling than the other match. Lott flashed brilliantly behind a powerful service with which he was scoring repeatedly early in the match. This success enabled him to go to the net for repeated placements while Allison was playing defensively on the base line.

Allison will defend his title which he won for the first time a year ago against the man with whom he has played doubles for years. The finals will be played tomorrow.

Miss Virginia Hillery, of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, outplayed Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., to reach the finals of the women's singles. In the finals she will meet Miss Marjorie Morrill, of Boston, who defeated Miss Virginia Rice, of Dedham, Mass.

DOUBLES. Van Ryn and Allison went to the quarter finals in the men's doubles by defeating Herbert Brown, of New York, and Tom Mangin, of Washington, 6-4, 6-0.

First round matches were: F. Schaefer, of Philadelphia, and Fred Baggs, of New York, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3; Bell and Mangin and Cram and Burwell advanced by default.

Yakov and Mercer defeated Biddle and Howard Voshell, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1. Hunter and Arnold Jones defeated John Tunis and J. H. Barnum, 6-4, 6-0.

Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, paired with Miss Marjorie Morrill, went to the finals in the women's doubles by defeating Mrs. L. L. Lamm and Mrs. Ruth Shelden, 6-0, 6-4.

Miss Hillery and Miss Andrus defeated Miss Anne Page and Miss Anne Townsend, 9-7, 4-6, 7-5.

Russell Crane To Coach Line. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 24.—(AP)—Russell Crane, 1929 University of Illinois football captain, today accepted an offer from the Mississippi A. & M. college at Starkville to become head line coach in football and boxing and wrestling coach at that institution.

Crane made his debut in professional boxing at Peoria, Ill., two weeks ago, and although he won, he decided coaching more to his liking.

The Grantland Rice SPORTLIGHT

The main question at hand now is about this—what is Europe going to do with all of them?

Young Horton Smith sails today for a tour of England, Scotland, France and Germany—wherever they hold an open golf championship. He sails two days after Helen Wills, or Mrs. Moody, our tennis champion. He sails two days after Glenna Collett, our women's golf champion, and 20 other women golfers.

He sails five days ahead of Bobby Jones, the United States open golf champion, and Harrison Johnston, the United States amateur golf champion. Also the other members of the Walker cup team.

When Horton arrives in Europe he will find Bill Tilden and Miss Helen Jacobs already over there hitting a tennis ball around. And in a little while the United States Davis cup team will probably be on the scene.

In a short while Leo Diegel, the P. G. A. champion, will sail to meet Abe Mitchell for the world's match play title. Leo will also take another shot at the British open.

There has been nothing quite like this exodus in the history of international sport. Almost every ship is taking over male and female athletes and a lot of them are champions. Mrs. Moody, Miss Collett, Bobby Jones, Jimmy Johnston, Leo Diegel and Horton Smith are all national champions. Horton is the French open golf champion where he had two of the greatest rounds of his life.

Who can recall, in the history of international sport, where one country sent six champions across the water within the space of a week? And this doesn't include Bill Tilden, who is the United States tennis champion.

That makes seven United States champions that will be inhaling European air within the next few days. And most of them are amateurs. You can write this down as a record, if you haven't anything else to write about.

In Return? Well— So far how has Europe exchanged talent? First of all there was Phil Scott. One way and another a number of untoward incidents happened to Phil but he left with $50,000 for any annoyance he may have suffered.

A trifle later Italy sent over Primo Carnera. The ponderous one may also be returning soon—and then again he may not. But if he leaves he will take back more gold than even a 270-pound heavyweight can lift.

They accuse us of being a money grabbing nation, but who gets the better of this exchange? Helen Wills, Glenna Collett, Bobby Jones, Jimmy Johnston and Bill Tilden can't bring back any cash, no matter what they win.

Leo Diegel can pick up $2,500 by beating Abe Mitchell and possibly $1,000 for winning the British open. Horton Smith can do the same by winning the British open.

Our pro golfers all bunched together have a shot at something like $6,000—if they win.

That Isn't All. Before the cheering has subsided at the mention of Scott's and Carnera's name there is still another coin collector all poised to visit these shores. This is Max Schmeling, the German.

Max is no Scott and neither is he a Carnera. He can fight if he hasn't forgotten how. At least he could fight when he left us many months ago.

Max also will lift his share of currency and take it back. He will pick up something between $100,000 and $200,000, which seems to be enough.

We have sent about 50 athletes across, or will have sent that many shortly, where the best any of them can do in a financial way is around $5,000. Europe will have sent three across who will bring something like $300,000 back home when the complete returns are in.

Waiting for the Shock. How many titles will the U. S. invaders bring back? Mrs. Helen Wills Moody is as good as in. She will win in France and she will win at Wimbledon.

Glenna Collett and Bobby Jones have tougher jobs, golf being what it is. Miss Collett has a first-class chance at Formby. She will be the best golfer in the field with Joyce Wethered missing. Bobby Jones will be the best golfer in the field at St. Andrews and this time he should break through—even through the five or six 18-hole matches he will have to play, if he keeps on hitting the ball as he has been hitting it this spring.

Jones should have a great chance at Hoylake in the British open. He has won his last two starts in this event and he will be favored again. But nothing is certain in this weird, bewildering Scotch pastime where form can flit back and forth like a will-o'-the-wisp across a swamp.

Horton Smith is another who will have to be watched in this championship and so will Leo Diegel and Tommy Armour.

The safest ground in Europe is the tennis sector guarded by Henri Cochet. He should center home, any time he starts.

IRISH DEFEAT JACKETS, 5 TO 3, IN FINAL GAME

Notre Dame Makes Clean Sweep of Series Here.

Starting with a back-slapping big parade and finishing in a shivering stagger, Notre Dame's Irish baseball team swept the two-game series with Tech's Yellow Jackets by taking Thursday's engagement at 5-3 on the Rose Bowl diamond at the Flats.

The Irish kept the bases filled in the first frame, with but one hit as their contribution, but couldn't score. In the second inning, however, they put up the same single hit and scored four runs—enough to assure them of the final decision.

Quinn, who started on the mound for the Jackets, walked three men in the first inning and three more in the third. Those in the first inning were harmless, but Moran's home run to center field and two Tech errors made the world safe for the Irish in the second.

The Jackets scored their first run in the third inning when Preston singled and Myers, who went in as a pinch hitter for Quinn, walked, and Pullen singled, Preston romping home with a score.

In the fifth inning the Jackets added their other two runs. After two outs, Pullen doubled and stole third and went home on Terrell's double to center. McKee sent Terrell home with a slashing triple to the corner of the lot. Jones ended the inning with a foul for the catcher.

Notre Dame's other run came in the fifth inning. Moran singled, Feehery flied out to McKee. Sullivan hit to Pullen and Moran was forced at second. Palmero was safe on Ritchie's error at second and O'Keefe scored Sullivan with a single. That ended the scoring.

Tech goes to Alabama for a series Friday and Saturday.

Class D League To Meet Today

FITZGERALD, Ga., April 24. A meeting of representatives of prospective Class D baseball league in south and middle Georgia towns will be held here Friday morning. It was announced today by D. F. Nolan, prominent local sportsman.

It is proposed to have representatives from Dublin, Waycross, Douglas, Albany, Valdosta, Milledgeville and Tifton present at the meeting.

Ivy Wingo, who was recently released by the Atlanta Crackers, will be among those present and he is interested in managing one of the teams.

STARS TUNE UP FOR RACES HERE

Three More Enter Thursday for Big Event Saturday.

Seven fast racing automobiles will be warmed up this afternoon in preparation for the Memorial Day race program at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Atlanta Speedway on Pace's Ferry road. Two new entries were received Thursday morning and "Shorty" Ginrich, of Tampa, Fla., entered Thursday night, running the total to seven, with at least five others expected today.

George Hamilton, president of the Atlanta Speedway, announced Thursday that everything is in readiness for the time trials at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and the public is invited to witness the trials free of charge. Positions of the drivers in the afternoon races will be determined by the qualifying rounds and time trials Saturday morning.

THURSDAY ENTRIES. Bob Robinson, of Benson Springs, Fla., and Don Wallace, of Chattanooga, Tenn., teammates and relief drivers for the late Ray Keesh in the 500-mile Indianapolis, Ind., speedway races, entered Thursday morning.

Robinson will drive a big Miller Special, which was designed for Keesh to race on dirt tracks alone. It was in the time trials April 12 that it did not participate in any of the events due to a broken connecting rod. Necessary repairs have been made and the car has made several unusually good rounds this week.

The big Miller has been entered in the 100-mile race at Langhorne, Pa., May 3 as a championship car. It won one of the events at Langhorne last year and was required by the contest board of the American Automobile Association to be present at the 1930 races.

Wallace is one of the best known of southern dirt track drivers. He is a veteran on the tracks and was second in the 25-mile event April 12. He will drive a Frontenac Special.

RATIO CHANGED. Ginrich will drive a Frontenac Special. The car was in many of the Florida winter meets but did not do so well two weeks ago here due to a small gear ratio. That ratio has been changed, and Ginrich expects to beat the local track record of 22 2-5 seconds.

Herman Schuch, one of the first to enter the Memorial Day races, had a good round several days ago in practice for the Saturday events. He holds the world's half-mile dirt track record made April 12 on the Atlanta Speedway. His record is 22 2-5 seconds and in competition during the afternoon he beat his own record by more than a second for several rounds.

Announcement was made Thursday that a local bus company has arranged to have plenty of buses at Buckhead to carry passengers to and from the races. Free parking space has been provided for hundreds of automobiles in a field adjoining the track and officials will direct motorists to the parking spaces.

The general admission price has been reduced and will include grandstand seats.

Southwest Georgia Baseball League Plans To Open May 15

BACKERS MEET IN SYLVESTER TO DELIBERATE

Semi-Pro Clubs To Be Formed From Bona-Fide Residents.

SYLVESTER, Ga., April 24.—Representatives from seven southwest Georgia cities met last night to formulate plans for the organization of a southwest Georgia baseball league. The meeting was held in the local basketball hall, immediately after the completion of the boxing card.

The following cities were represented: Albany, Sylvester, Moultrie, Cuthbert, Americus, Cordele and Brownwood.

Only a six-club league being planned, the first five named are assured of a berth in the organization while the sixth will go to either Cordele or Brownwood. It is understood that the new league will be a semi-pro organization, it being required that all players shall be a resident of the county for at least 90 days prior to the opening of the season, which is set for May 15, closing on August 15.

trophy will be given to the girls' team winning the event three times.

Those girls' schools invited to participate are Girls' High, North Avenue Presbyterian, Woodberry Hall, Washington seminary, in addition to Russell High, Decatur High, Fulton and Commercial.

It will be the first time in the history of the league that events have been included for girls.

Entries for the swimming meet will close May 6 and should be mailed to Coach Joe Bean at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

G. W. Hodges, "Red" Collins, of Tech High, and M. Davis, of Boys' High, were appointed as members of a committee to complete plans for the city prep tennis meet.

OFFICIAL'S JOB HARDEST OF ALL IN AMATEURS

Trumbull Finds Arbiters Must Be Men of Many Qualities.

By Walter Trumbull.

(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, April 24.—The more amateur the sport, the harder the job of the official. That, at least, is the way it often looks to me.

Let an athlete disagree with an umpire in professional baseball and the ump is likely to toss him clear off the field with a jerk of his thumb. Bitter complaint of such treatment gets the victim perhaps a fine, and a loud horse laugh from the head of the league. If the manager horns in, the penalty and hilarity are served for two.

In professional football, the players rarely even register a kick. Football officials have told me repeatedly that they practically never have the slightest trouble with a professional team.

Let a professional baseball or hockey player take a sock at an official and he is likely to find his job back. Let an amateur present an official with a punch in the nose, and he becomes a bit of a martyr. The boys are likely to elect him captain of the team.

BLACKLISTED.

If the coach of an amateur aggregation doesn't think the official has given his team the close decisions it deserves, he insults him politely and then blacklists him. And this can be managed, in spite of protective organizations.

In the great amateur game of tennis, if the contestants do not agree with an official's decision, they ignore it, and thereby make a monkey of him in public. It would be delightful to see some umpire, with the back of a tennis ball, throw one of these players off the court and forfeit a match for unsportsmanlike conduct. This would cut down the over supply of disgruntled looks and impatient remarks.

It is the business of any amateurs engaged in a sporting contest first to select a referee, and capable official, and then to accept decisions without comment or protest. If a bad official is selected, that is hard luck and bad judgment. An official is supposed to be a referee, not a judge.

No man is perfect, but the official who makes half as many mistakes as a contestant on the same number of chances is a very unqualified official.

MANY QUALITIES.

And some of them are unqualified, for it takes many qualities to be a good official. A contestant can be fiery and impulsive. An official must be cool and deliberate. He must have good eyes, an even disposition, good judgment. A contestant is better for hot loyalty. An official should be swayed neither by sympathy nor prejudice.

Except for necessary purification, he should not be able to tell one contestant from another.

A contestant who is a showman is an asset. An official who is a showman is frequently a nuisance. The game belongs to the players. Let an official make himself too conspicuous and he is like the spectator in the seat ahead of you who rises to put on his coat at the most thrilling point in a movie. Officials should be heard and not seen.

A growing sense of importance has spoiled more good officials than almost anything else. A sense of importance is very different from a sense of command. An official should hold the attention of the players, but not the attention of the crowd. He is then as responsible for a smooth performance as is the puller of the strings at a Punch and Judy show, but those strings should be as invisible as possible and worked from behind the scenes.

WRONG TURN.

In professional sport I have seen men who were good umpires and referees lose their value because they were praised for their undoubted ability until the praise went to their heads. Then they began to regard themselves not as officials, but as performers.

They dimmed their eyesight looking into the spotlight. Their swagger took them out of position. They began to regard the real performers as merely feeders for their act. They didn't enforce rules; they made rules. And they bitterly resented any legitimate request for information as insubordination.

The same thing is true in amateur sport. I have seen football officials grow so arbitrary and ill-mannered that the boys didn't like them. An official should be firm, but should extend the same courtesy he demands. It is no easy thing to be a fine official.

Gators Nose Out Auburn Nine, 3-2

PANAMA CITY, Fla., April 24.—

(P)—The University of Florida baseball team defeated Auburn 3 to 2 in a hard-fought pitchers' battle that featured the opening game of a three-game series here today. Prim, of Auburn, and Fisher, of Florida, both of whom went the entire route, were touched for six hits each.

Burt, Auburn right fielder, chalked up the first run for the Alabama aggregation in the second, while Kaley, catcher, scored in the fifth for the only other Auburn tally.

Florida scored two runs in the second on bunched hits and the final score in the fourth, Evers, first-sacker, crossing the plate on a sacrifice.

Held scoreless after the fifth inning, Auburn attempted a ninth-inning rally, which was short lived and futile.

Russell Defeats Decatur, 6 to 3

Russell High evened the count with Decatur with a 6-to-3 victory Thursday afternoon at East Point in the opening of the second half of the prep league schedule. The game was moved up from today because of the fifth district track and field meet which will be held this afternoon at Russell High.

Bunn, of Russell High, and McKinley and Thomas, of Decatur, engaged in a pitching duel for four innings. Bunn pitched steadily all the way and struck out nine of the Decatur batters. McKinley started for Decatur but was taken out after four innings and Thomas finished.

Thomas hit a home run for Decatur in the ninth inning and Johnson, of Russell, drove in one run ahead of his circuit blow in the seventh inning.

Track Stars Meet Today at Russell

With a dozen teams entered, the annual fifth district track and field meet will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Russell High in East Point.

University, Marist, Decatur, Fulton and Russell are the Atlanta entries in the events, while Clarkson, Chamblee, Palmetto, Stone Mountain, Fairburn, Conyers, and Avondale are expected to be represented.

Pitcher Dies.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., April 24.—

(P)—Walter S. (Rube) Manning, who was a member of the New York Americans from 1907 to 1910 as a pitcher, died here last night after a brief illness.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR No. 35

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Morning was dawning when Tarzan again awoke, after spending the remainder of the night curled in the comfortable crotch of a great tree. The pangs of hunger assailed him. He yawned, rose, stretched himself, and gazed about him through the leafy foliage of his retreat. He was amid his own meadowlands and fields, the fields of John Clayton, Lord Greystoke. Tarzan of the Apes looked at a stranger upon the moving figures of his own braves preparing breakfast.

The ape-man eyed them with curiosity. In the back of his brain loitered a fleeting sense of familiarity with all that he saw, yet he could not connect them with any particular event of the past. Though the face of each of them had but recently been as familiar to him as his own, they awakened within him no recollection whatsoever. He saw them scatter their cook fire and depart. After they had gone, Tarzan descended from his tree and sought food.

Out upon the plain grazed a sleek fat bunch of zebra. Toward these he wormed his stealthy way. He kept down wind from his prey, acting instinctively. He took advantage of every form of cover as he crawled upon all fours and often flat on his stomach. Reaching a low bush's shelter he gathered his spear firmly in his grasp. Cautiously he drew his feet beneath him. In a single, swift move he rose and cast his heavy weapon at a plump young mare grazing nearest him.

Callie, he leaped after his spear, his hunting knife in his hand. Clinging with one hand to the zebra's short mane, Tarzan struck repeatedly with his knife. The mare fell lifeless and then upon her Tarzan placed his foot and raised his voice in the victory call. In the distance, Basuli halted at the hideous scream echoed. "The great apes!" he said to his companions. "It is a long time since I have heard them in the country of the Waziri. What could have brought them back?"

Mussolini Sees Daughter

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY BINDS HAPPY COUPLE

Wed Italian Nobleman

ROME, April 24.—(AP)—Benito Mussolini, dictator of Italy since 1922, like a private Italian citizen today saw his 10-year-old daughter, Edda, become the bride of Count Galeazzo Ciano.

In the Duce's parish church, St. Joseph's of the Via Nomentana, the daughter of the dictator and the son of the Italian minister of communications were united by the parish priest, Monsignor Pascucci.

The wedding, except for the picturesque of fascist "black shirts" with glittering bayonets, was simple, in accordance with the Duce's preference for keeping his family life in the background.

Pope Pius XI sent the bride couple a solid gold rosary and his blessing. King Victor Emmanuel, signing himself "your most affectionate cousin," sent congratulations to the bride.

From the royal family, King Zog I of Albania wished the newlyweds good fortune and prosperity. The wedding breakfast at the Villa Torlonia, the Duce's residence, was a simple family gathering, attended by the parish priest and the four witnesses.

What lent a sumptuous appearance to the wedding was the presence of the diplomatic corps, including the United States ambassador, John W. Garrett, and Mrs. Garrett, hundreds of fascist militia, a large corps of carabinieri, and groups representing fascist organizations of young girls.

Several thousand spectators were kept rigorously distant from the church, and as a measure of protection for the Duce the surrounding houses were well guarded.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a veil of burano lace, a gift of the bridegroom.

She entered the church on the arm of her future father-in-law, Count Ciano. The groom followed, escorted by Donna Rachele Mussolini, the Duce's walking last of all, with the Countess Ciano.

The wedding ceremony, including low mass and an address by the priest, lasted 55 minutes. The nuptial contract was signed in accordance with the terms of the lateran treaties, under which ecclesiastical marriages have the full force of civil marriages.

The Duce himself aroused great surprise and much comment by going to St. Peter's cathedral with the rest of the party who went to worship at the tomb of the first apostle. It was the first time he had entered the Vatican City since the exchange of the ratifications of the lateran treaties last summer, and his visit was considered to point the way for his long awaited formal call upon Pope Pius.

After the wedding breakfast the Count and Countess Ciano left by automobile on their honeymoon. Their destination was not announced.

Atlanta-Macon Elks To Join in Initiation

Atlanta lodge, No. 78, B. P. O. Elks Thursday night accepted an invitation from Macon to join with that lodge in the biggest initiation ever held in the state of Georgia, on May 21. Macon has invited every lodge in the state to attend when the Grand Exalted Ruler Andrews, of Atlanta, will be present, as will all other high ranking Elks in this jurisdiction.

The Atlanta lodge will go to Macon in a big motorcade. The members then will join with all other lodges in motorcading to Milledgeville the following morning for the Georgia State Elks Association annual meeting, May 22 and 23.

Representing the local lodge at the state gathering will be the new lodge of Andrews, in other words, with its hand, and the patrol of Atlanta lodge.

The grand exalted ruler was present at Atlanta lodge's meeting Thursday night for the first time since his serious illness and witnessed the initiation of three candidates, L. O. Moseley, manager of the Ansley hotel; John M. Fain, and James L. Jones.

Plot To Assassinate Peru President Found

LIMA, Peru, April 24.—(UN)—The existence of a plot to assassinate President Augusto B. Leguia was revealed today when authorities announced they had arrested Manuel Jesus Urbina, former judge and former deputy, and seven others as the principal conspirators.

Urbina's 17-year-old servant, Humberto Pena Olivera, was chosen for the assassination part, according to the statement, and on three occasions in the past few months attended public ceremonies with the intention of shooting the president. His courage failed each time.

Simultaneously with announcement of the plot, a decree was issued suspending constitutional guarantees for 30 days in the departments of Lima, Lambayeque, Junin and Chicla. This measure is equivalent to martial law.

Mayor Proclaims Atlanta Health Education Week

Photo by J. F. Holt way, Staff Photographer. Mayor Ragsdale signing the Health Week proclamation as Dr. J. G. Williams and Mrs. H. G. Parks and Dr. C. W. Roberts look on.

Appealing to the people of the state to support the various useful programs to be conducted in nearly a hundred Georgia counties in observance of the annual Health Education Week which is sponsored by the medical, dental and educational authorities, Governor Hardman by executive proclamation has officially designated the week commencing May 5 as a time for the united stimulation of a higher degree of health consciousness among all citizens.

Acting in conformity with the action of the state's chief executive, and upon the request of the local medical and school authorities, Mayor Ragsdale on Thursday issued his own proclamation stressing the importance of observing this annual event throughout the boroughs of Greater Atlanta. The mayor points out the significance of the event, particularly to the coming generation, by calling attention to the physical examination of all school children in the city which will occur during the Health Education Week program.
